Fulfillment of God's Plan Awaits YOUR Enactment

As the headline proclaims, this play is up to mankind's collective will to decide what we all experience and as the current situation in the Middle East is showing, man has to choose: will it be Armageddon or the Divine Plan?

Time to wake up! Our reality of experience is fast approaching a massive shift and many seem to still be waiting for a sign from God or one of his angels.

Calm yourself, get quiet, go within and hear God's voice for yourself! God is your consciousness that allows you to perceive your self.

We each can and do hear God, but few of us listen, let alone pay attention. Quit waiting on another to hear on your behalf! Accept who you are and allow God's quiet inner voice to be heard directly.

God has sent many a message and messenger yet people are still waiting for the next message not realizing that we have already been given the key to turn this play into glory rather than tragedy through the Global Alliance Investment Association, Bonus 3392 and all that it portends for all nations and all people planet-wide. The following excerpt is taken from unpublished Journal # 187 quoting Aton, who quite succinctly tells what each can do to change our reality.

ATON: RECOGNIZING THE POWER OF YOUR DIVINE BIRTH-RIGHT

11/3/96 ATON, THE ONE LIGHT

... So, for those of you down there at this time who are the ones who bring forth my messages of Spiritual Truth, whether they be from one of my messengers or from Me Myself (GOD!), I am reminding you that there is good reason for your DIRECT CONNECTION at this time.

This also goes for you ones who may not receive consciously at this time. Please know that you DO receive and that the mere act of spreading the inspired messages of Truth, from whatever physical source such may enter into your awareness, causes the means by which the awareness of a planet can be shifted.

Ones need to realize that their "holy" books are limited and have been distorted through time. There is, however, much truth left in them. But I tell you now: discern always the information! Take all information and think it through for yourself.

Even these writings that are coming forth each day must be read with discernment, for you are always being tested as to where you are in your current level of perception and awareness. There are no absolutes down there in the physical experiences. Use your mind and be responsible for your choices.

No man has any corner on Truth. You each have to find your own way through the challenges of the physical compression of that third-dimensional reality.

Be attentive to those things which cause you to feel fear. Fear is what will inhibit you from reaching your true potential while down there in the physical. Recognize WHO you are and WHY you are there! Go forth in confidence that you are part of the Oneness that is Light. You shall either create the miracles or they will not get created. IT IS YOUR BIRTH-RIGHT! I LEAVE YOU NOW WITH MY BLESSINGS. TO YOU WHO EFFORT TO FIND TRUTH AND SEEK TO FULFILL YOUR PART IN THIS MISSION: I AM THE ONE LIGHT. I AM ATON. I AM. ADONAI.

[END QUOTING]

We are all free to choose to allow God's will to be ours. It is promised that the experience will be both challenging and quite rewarding and that your life will take on significant meaning.

You Are the Lead Actor in Your OWN Play

RE: CHECK ON REALITY AND EVALUATE PRIORITIES—GCH/d

WHICH DO YOU PREFER?

1. This is G-Yeorgos Ceres Hatonn in the total Light of Creator to you my scribe and I bring you tidings of “go within” and decide your fate. And, furthermore, I will repeat it three times and you are to believe me yea even to stealing, lying and cheating if your preferences are to have something of “another”. Stick around long enough, chelas, and your wishes for abundance and control of universes shall be YOURS! Take whatever you deem worthwhile from even, yea, your brother—for your wishes should be his command.

OR

2. This is GCH (G-Yeorgos Ceres Hatonn) and my identification is presented right up top as “GCH” with “D” as my “receiver” (secretary for this job at hand) and that identification is “Dharma”. Dharma is “pen” name of Doris who is fully registered and legally recognized. I tell you, further, that you must get all the information you can gather so that you can make valid determinations regarding your most personal and innermost decisions. It is WRONG to steal, lie or cheat. It is, further, that our “job” at hand is very physically oriented and just meditating within is worthless unless you follow those thoughts (meditations) with ACTION—therefore, base all thought on truth and stop the wishful magical thinking. Make your dreams come true based on wisdom and REALITY and then, MAKE MIRACLES THE OUTCOME OF YOUR EXPERIENCE THROUGH MANIFEST PHYSICAL EXPRESSION.

CONFUSION

There should be no confusion, friends, about either one or two. Eat mush every day and your teeth will fall out and your brain will move swiftly to atrophy. Wait for abundance to fall on you and for your “pick-up” by millions of space ships just waiting to rescue you and you have another FALSE RAPTURE—FALSE PROMISE.

You are MANIFEST in a PHYSICAL world of recognition and therefore you MUST have a PHYSICAL PRESENTATION as to solutions for problems in a physical world! There CAN BE NO other “way”. THOUGHT is within the limitations of MIND and therefore is invisible “frequency waves”. ACTION is a physical response/reaction to those thoughts from that invisible apparatus. Mind is the YOU of “you”. GOD MIND is the “youze” and “meeze” of REALITY of existence itself.

There is a bit of bad news, however, at this point of this speech: ONLY GOD CREATOR CAN CREATE DIRECTLY FROM MIND-THOUGHT INTO PHYSICAL FORM—BUT HE TOO MUST WORK THROUGH THE “IMAGE” HOLOGRAPHICALLY PROJECTED INTO MANIFEST REALITY.

May we put that into a perhaps better perspective? If you are sitting across the table from spouse X, is X less or more “real” than if you are speaking with that same “entity” on a telephone? Be careful lest you forget PHYSICS as a science and bear disinformation regarding communications AND visibility. COMMUNICATION is basically only a MIND-to-MIND “REALITY”. METHODS OF COMMUNICATION ARE THE ONLY VARIANCE.

Now, if radio signals are obsolete methods of communications with one to another, then what has happened? Ah indeed, you have learned to wirelessly communicate in many ways OTHER than wired or even wireless technology. No big deal, readers, so why do you continue the silly fantasies? And, for goodness sakes, about what is all the “ascension” baggage? MIND IS ALREADY ASCENDED—ALL THE TIME.

Moreover, you ARE exactly WHAT YOU THINK! YOU WILL REFLECT EXACTLY WHAT YOU THINK! However, the body physical must also respond to the blueprint provided by MIND.

If you are building a bridge but end up with a house, is it your fault because you used the wrong blueprints? Or, is it God’s fault in presentation? Keep it simple and keep it separated, for each “thought fragment” has a remarkable and “separate” purpose. Just as a red blood cell must reproduce as a red blood cell lest you die of anemia—so too must you put INTO the apparatus that which produces the desired product at the outcome end of the conveyor belt.

Better example?

WARS AND RUMORS OF WARS

Bombs and bombastics are both valid “things” but one blows up physical things while the other simply makes loud noises presented in words, print or both.

Now, is the “war against Saddam” (Iraq), bombs or bombastics? Well, sleepy chelas, over 100 U.S. and British aircraft bombed parts of Iraq yesterday. That was NOT bombastic rhetoric—it was an ATTACK on a nation and her people no matter what might have been the target.

If 100 Iraqi planes bombed downtown Minneapolis, U.S.A., would that be war worse or better than the World Trade Center debacle?

UNTIL YOU HAVE TERMS DEFINED FOR “EVERYONE”, YOU WILL HAVE TO CONSIDER THAT “WAR” MEANS EXACTLY THAT: WAR. If you blow up and destroy something of MINE, I consider it WAR, my friends, for I have no other English term to use for such acts of attacking aggression.

Moreover, if someone STEALS my property or that of my projects—I consider it criminal theft—both proprietarily and literally. Furthermore, if someone tries to literally STEAL “my identity”—I call it criminal theft. Is this actually “confusion” as you like to claim in your New Age Being, which seems to lack all semblance of either wisdom or reality? Now consider this: If you disagree with this presentation, then what is it you perhaps do not understand? And no, I am NOT being insulting, for some things are quite “black and/or white” and confusion is only an excuse to try and salvage WRONG thinking or expression. If someone steals your car are you “confused” or are you just wanting your property restored? Furthermore, there may well be “extenuating” circumstances regarding the “borrowing” of a vehicle but that can be worked out “later” when “tried” as a “case” or the vehicle is returned and an explanation given. However, the act of taking without permission of the owner/holder is certainly WRONG in the very first thought or action of the perpetrator.

Continue the thought to observers (witnesses) of the act itself. Are the witnesses who watched and could actually identify the thieves because they “know” the culprits, CONFUSED as to who did the deed? Theirs is not to JUDGE the taker, only the observation is required of WHO did the taking. If X took the car and Y, Z, and W watched—WHAT IS THE CONFUSION?

Let’s take it even further for the exercise of a good mathematical problem: It is so that Y, Z and W held open the car door, handed X the keys and hid the evidence. Now, what do you have? For one thing, you have added “conspiracy” at the very LEAST to the crime in point. So, next ALL of the ones referred to above jump in the car and PROCLAIM IT TO BE THEIR CAR. Does that make it so?

Friends, all of the above has happened to a far greater extent, but inclusive of an actual “car” as well, AGAINST US.

Then the takeover of our property was excused and put onto international Internet in all its glorious lies and we are to consider your “confusion”?

Now, students, for your further evaluation: What “excuse” was given to the thefts of our property? Oh indeed, “Doris had a dark-tinged energy showing up somehow, somewhere around—‘or something’ equally as terrible... Oh well...”.

A what? REPEAT: A WHAT? Come on, AGAIN: A WHAT?

Facts are: “Doris/Dharma” had/has a legally REGISTERED and identified Yeorgos Ceres Hatonn squarely and legally behind her while, at the least, the “takers” took possession of same claiming it to be their own. Perhaps now you might be better able to SEE the facts in play here and why we structured it this way a decade ago. SO THAT THERE WOULD NOT BE ANY “CONFUSION”.

Can you begin to see what you DO TO YOURSELVES?

Now we find that pouring back are the ones who aided and abetted the very criminals while again claiming “confusion”! Why would that be? Surely not to reap rewards for OUR HAVING STAYED THE COURSE AND ACCOMPLISHED THE TASKS AT HAND! Moreover, we haven’t even concluded anything YET. But, YOU know now that we shall, don’t you?

You aid and abet the warriors while destroying the peacemakers and yet God is supposed to be happy with you? Let it be known that I make no pretenses as to my position but I can certainly assure you: GOD IS NOT CONFUSED!

STRATEGIES

In considerations of “strategic” planning you must know what it is you wish to accomplish.

Let us consider wondrous Jerusalem in the Holy Land. (Well, perhaps not too “holy” but a good example nonetheless.) You have factions vying for control, yea, even to destroying a Mosque in order to put up another’s religious “temple”. Is this good, bad, indifferent or just plain insane? Will the “PLACE” make man better, worse, indifferent or sane? Of course not, for goodness or wrong is not measured by religious doctrine. But religions only offer a demand for ignorant, blind order-following sheeple who tag along behind some self-proclaimed guru.

ARE YOU MISSING "LIFE"?

Most of you are very definitely "missing out on life", for you want that which is outside your own immediate perceptions. While you watch the "play" unfolding it is usually as in watching other actors while forgetting that YOU are the play and if you refuse to participate, you fail your own journey and purpose.

In a play you seem to demand that you have parts that are good or evil. There is no such PLAY conjured that doesn't toss the suspense to the decisions of the audience so that you can evaluate the outcome.

In the processing of such perspectives you often miss the very beauty of LIFE ITSELF.

The beauty of life is registered within in its being somehow satisfying and complete. The beauty is not in finding out what is missing, but in savoring the way it IS. It is not a reality that is dependent on providing that everything else is unreal.

Here is where "within" and "going within" is infinitely important. Within, you can actually feel the endless moment—out of nowhere into somewhere and then out again into nowhere, one breath at a time. Moreover, after you try this exercise a few times in moments of chaos, you will find and regain balance for the next action. And yes, chelas, breathing is a CHOICE. It is a very demanding choice—but nonetheless, a choice of each individual if not impacted by outside forces.

You ARE the play, the dream—THE THOUGHT. You must be the director, critic, audience, and actor. As the director, direct with certainty. Change what is changeable and work with your "cast", but most importantly, remember that you are directing. As a critic, criticize what should be criticized, but do not forget praise when it is due—ESPECIALLY TO SELF. Remember that YOU ARE the director as well.

You, my friend, are also your own audience and YOU will be your own worst or best critic. Be still and watch because you do not want to miss any part of your play. As an actor, project your role with ease and dignity because you have a very important audience, I repeat: YOU.

You must come to understand the representation of EACH actor and of yourself. It is not a frivolous play just to fill in time. Every ingredient has been brought together to make it the most satisfying play for you. Remember that we are speaking of "LIFE"—YOURS.

Don't make this play so repetitious that is a boring experience. Do not make it so fast that you, the audience, do not capture its essence as in "smell those roses". Allow the play to be "real". It does not need to be a comedy or a tragedy, for those are but expressions of perceptions at best. So, laugh at the fun parts and learn what you can from the sad parts. Find delight in the changes and allow yourself to change along with its flow. Every part is written for you to transform, by you, so that with it you too can transform.

Look with your own eyes open, but also with your eyes closed to the distractions in that you are not pulled from the point within your "life's play". YOUR play is taking place with-out as well as within, for from within comes the ability to act then, outside self as in interchange in experience and expression.

At some point in "living", friend, you must find belief in SELF and yes indeed, in this play in which you express all the component parts on the stage. You can "act" as another might have instructed or presented—BUT YOU ARE NOT NOR SHALL YOU EVER BE—THAT OTHER. EACH MUST REMAIN UNIQUE AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS MUST COME FOR SELF AND BY SELF.

After a play closes for the night or the season, the conclusion must be considered. As a "cast" and participants you will move along together—perhaps to the closing party or the opening party—depending on your time of production. Where will you go in your own play conclusion, for it is but an extension of the play just performed?

Will you move on to bigger productions for self or will you just try to hitch a ride on another's wagon? Yes, it IS important. That wagon-owner in point may not want to visit "your" star or, frankly, may well not be around to continue "YOUR" journey.

LIFE IS A MAGNIFICENT ILLUSION—A WONDROUS PLAY IN PROGRESS. The play, moreover, continues into infinity—NEVER ENDING. When the curtain closes on one act it is but opening in another even if the concept is one of simply sleeping or being in a void, for that too is an experience—another act—in another expression.

Can I express truth in Universal definition? Indeed: YOU and more specifically in two words: YOU ARE. HOW DARE I SPEAK ON SUCH MATTERS? First let me assure you that nothing forces you to read this, hear this or attend this. However, the emotional facts of life—as in "spirit"—cannot be long separated from the physical aspects of "living".

This means, friends, that you need to KNOW what you ARE and find your way to perfect that which you consider your experience in the play of choice. That means that in this particular play you must consider the alternatives offered for your experience and you must make it "physically" work or there is NO PLAY.

This means that as some kind of a "director" of MY OWN PLAY (which includes you who are in "my" play), I must provide information (script) that has an outcome as established as, at the very least, MY CHOSEN CONCLUSION.

So, this indicates that to recover from disastrous misuse of non-value-based currency (as a purely obvious example) we must consider getting value-based resolution of the problem. We can't do that if it is not even scripted into your play—BUT YOUR ADVERSARY HAS CERTAINLY BUILT IT INTO HIS.

If someone in claim of great wisdom would tell you "God wouldn't do this or that or the other...". BEWARE. GOD IS ALL THINGS and some self-styled guru who expounds on what God would or would not do—is full of BS (brain scramble). At best such projection can ONLY be opinion or conjecture of the self-styled projector/interpreter.

I know the way, friend, but you are incorrect in any assumption that I will DRAG you anywhere. If you ask a push or pull when bogged or are too weary to move on then, if you maintain your goal, I will certainly help. I will walk WITH you but not instead of you. However, in such cases of "carry" you or "go with you", we must, after all be going in the same direction on the same path. I will not HELP you to destroy yourself, for your adversarial "friends" and colleagues will give you that assistance. YOURS IS TO LEARN AND KNOW THE DIFFERENCE.

If you want to SAVE YOURSELF—then please do so, for no one other than self will do it FOR YOU. I'll help every way I can if you allow me but salvation is not MAGIC, it is Grace in something often referred to as "MIRACLE"—but is in fact, WHAT "IS". Most of you need, at most, an attitude adjustment, nothing more. You can only be as intelligent as the instructors you have chosen or are foisted off onto your unsuspecting selves through the generations of ignorant or cunning "professors". "Professor" is simply "one who professes". Embarrassing isn't it? Most professors would be far more acceptable if they confessed their ignorance rather than profess a continuing lie. I can well confess my own consternation and ignorance of HOW and WHY you became so confused about life itself.

God never leaves you alone, my friends, although I suspect most of you wish He would from time to time when you are being foolish.

May the Light always shine before you that you find your way—GCH

I remind you that a leader who will lead all his "followers" off the cliff to their deaths in the name of "ascension" is surely a worthy producer of outcome as promised for all who hit the bottom of the ravine WILL ASCEND—very rapidly if the drop be great enough. I doubt, however, that this would be YOUR desire of accomplishment under physical and reasonable circumstances. You can accomplish the same with Dr. Jones' cyanide Kool-Aid.

I have little patience with any "teacher" who will simply teach you to contemplate your belly-button calling it "going within" for your salvation.

There is no problem with a demand to separate Church and State or keeping religions out of State affairs. HOWEVER, WHEN YOU TAKE GOD OUT OF STATE—YOU HAVE EVIL FLOURISHING, MY FRIENDS, FOR STATE BECOMES THE VERY THRONE OF SATAN.

GOD does not meddle in affairs of State, readers, and it is time you learn as much. State is a conjuring of MAN and has very little to do with GOD in any sense whatsoever. Moreover, GOD waits to be "asked". One of the only "states" I actually recognize is "A State of Grace" as pertains TO GOD. I am continually appalled, however, at the numbers of people who CLAIM to be in a State of Grace when they have absolutely no concept of what it means.

I am also quite astonished when I see you lolly-gagging over some statement such as would be made by, say, a President Bush who would present that "Our allies are with us..." in this or that war party. No, at best only the politicians CAN be "with him". A nation is NOTHING—for it is made up of INDIVIDUALS. "It" is artificial and at best can have speakers, nothing more.

Perhaps as you consider these bits of input you will ALSO better understand the basic workings and fundamental meaning of INCORPORATION. A nation's laws are set forth in the guidelines of "articles of incorporation" AND "bylaws". As a citizen one becomes a sovereign owner of a portion or a "shareholder", whichever you prefer. The problem is, however, that PEOPLE lose their "shares" or rights of voice by the corrupted enforcers who gain CONTROL through very devious methods.

The basic problem with big corporations and States is that they trade "shares" as if, for goodness sakes, they somehow owned something because they bought an election for some puppets of bigger corporation-States.

This very fact, however, is WHY control has to be maintained in EVERY honest encounter to prevent the overrun by attackers and claimants to that which is NOT theirs to hold or to claim. Therefore, the holders of that which is provided for restoration and reclamation of goodly things—must be carefully given consideration, weighed and measured against the LAWS of right intent AND action. Can you measure-up to the qualifications? Of course, for "can" is not in question, is it? The point: will you?

It is much as with the overweight person wishing to lose poundage. The point is not "can you", it is purely and simply put: WILL YOU? When you want to do so greatly enough—you will do so.

It is the same with your "emotional" self. When you want to balance self enough—you will do so. Failure to do so is not because "you can't" but because you won't. With weight loss it is purely a difference in your choices of "what you want" vs. "what you won't". But for goodness sakes: CONSIDER THE IMPORTANCE OF YOUR FOCUS.

Fulfillment of God's Plan Awaits YOUR Enactment

With the war raging between Israel and Lebanon and escalating towards Armageddon here is a writing requesting each who reads it to go within self and ponder this statement: "What you will do is up to you and the awakening, hopefully, God within you."

'MOTHER OF ALL BATTLES' REVISITED

Does anyone recall, some fifteen years ago, when Saddam Hussein referenced the onset of hostilities as "the Mother of all battles"? Would anyone want to challenge the veracity of that statement now, fifteen years later, as every nation prepares for war in the region?

What is an appropriate response when a foreign government enters your country and kidnaps your politicians? Does it make sense to ANYone that because some Lebanese militia captured Israeli soldiers—INSIDE THE BORDERS OF LEBANON—that Israel should unleash its mighty (U.S.-taxpayer-supplied) F-16s on the CIVILIAN airport in Beirut? Or the civilian infrastructure throughout Lebanon, preventing aid from getting through? Eight CANADIANS have been killed and 99% of all casualties so far have been CIVILIANS. Oh, well?

Mr. Putin of Russia says the Israelis have something more on their agenda than recovering a couple of missing soldiers and that seems obvious. What are they really trying to accomplish—besides triggering all-out WAR involving Syria and Iran, who are mentioned on nearly every news broadcast?

'AN EYE FOR AN EYE'???

'An eye for an eye' is NEITHER CHRISTIAN NOR MUSLIM in concept but it is entirely embraced by the Talmudic Zionists pulling the trigger on the Armageddon scenario now playing out—even when they took great pains to do the poking in the first place.

As columnist Gideon Levy writes in Haaretz:

Who started it? ... Israel is causing electricity blackouts, laying sieges, bombing and shelling, assassinating and imprisoning, killing and wounding civilians, including children and babies, in horrifying numbers, but 'they started' ... 'breaking the rules' laid down by Israel: we are allowed to bomb anything we want and they are not allowed to launch Qassams. When they fire a Qassam at Ashkelon, that's an 'escalation of the conflict', and when we bomb a university and a school, it's perfectly alright. Why? ...

This issue's "News Desk" is prepared to take a stab at the answer to that question. News Desk Editor Jerry Schnoebelen is piecing together some "outside the mainstream" articles which afford a tentative answer: the NWO has, it appears, ordered the destruction of Israel. Somewhere along the way, of course, ISRAEL'S

HUNDREDS OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS ARE INTENDED TO BE USED. Yes, it certainly does look like this is the ARMAGEDDON script and is fully intended to draw in both Syria and Iran—along with the United States.

In his writing of this date, well-informed author Webster Tarpley warns of an Israeli 'false flag' operation intended to draw the U.S. into the conflict:

... One possible provocation scenario to bring the U.S. into the war is that a helicopter carrying U.S. citizens being evacuated out of Lebanon is hit by a missile and destroyed, killing all on board. The missile might be fired by the Israelis or by their allies among the fascist Lebanese Phalangists. The Israelis would announce that the helicopter had been destroyed by Hezbollah, opening the way for a hysterical campaign by Fox News and the rest of the neocon mass brainwashing apparatus to secure an early U.S. attack on Syria and Iran.

An alternative: a group of Arabic-speaking Israeli Mossad or Shin Beth special forces, or a group of Phalangist militia round up a few dozen Americans and machine-gun them to death. The controlled media then blame the massacre on Hezbollah, thus stampeding the U.S. population into war.

... All parts of Lebanon are within easy flying distance by helicopter from sovereign British bases on the nearby island of Cyprus (Larnaka, etc.). Nothing would be easier than to set up a speedy airlift which could bring all Americans in Lebanon quickly to safety. Bush, despite his constant demagoguery about protecting the lives of Americans, is pursuing a policy of flagrant indifference to what happens to these 25,000 American citizens. They are being hung out to dry, left as sitting ducks for whatever bloody false flag operation may be cooked up by the Israeli intelligence services. This is criminal negligence infinitely worse than Katrina, in that any mass casualties among these Americans will represent a one-way ticket for this entire nation to World War III, a war which sooner or later will be fought with nuclear and thermonuclear weapons. A real U.S. president would right now be warning Israel that it will be held responsible for the lives and safety of every American in Lebanon.

The feckless Bush, totally isolated in St. Petersburg, is instead focused on showing his subservience to Olmert. It is therefore up to U.S. public opinion to demand effective security measures for Americans stranded in Lebanon, with immediate evacuation to Cyprus or other safe areas.

Indeed, "By Way of Deception" they shall make war. How many will take Mr. Tarpley's advice and contact American political leaders to protect their fellow-Americans? How many will do ANYTHING AT ALL to forestall this insane scenario? And perhaps most importantly for you in your own projected illusion: What are YOU doing?

TIME FOR 'DIVINE INTERVENTION' (THIS MEANS YOU)

"If not for God's intervention, all of mankind would perish." What does this MEAN—when we have been told in no uncertain terms HE WILL NOT SAVE US? He said it is up to YOU and explained that YOU must be God's hands and feet in this manifest illusion, YOU must manifest YOUR OWN miracle. So, WHAT ARE YOU DOING?

Without any offense intended, "If praying were enough, it would have come to be." You are manifest in a material world where you can make a material difference by DOING something. Some people obviously are doing some things and they are the least likely to feel offended by this prodding. But if it makes YOU uncomfortable, isn't it time to think about it?

There is a SOLUTION to what is wrong in the world today and it awaits only a sufficient change in perception among the people. This is REALLY GOOD NEWS and you'd have to think it would be very welcome in a moment of desperation otherwise. There is a website with all the information and it takes only enough people to grasp that information in their minds to MAKE IT SO. Almost everyone reading this message has direct or indirect access to the Internet. Even if you don't, there is no reason you cannot point people to the website. Just tell them to go to <www.GlobalAllianceAssn.com>.

The site itself explains how people can get involved in changing the world for the better. The Links page has some links with email addresses and other contact information for national leaders in various countries. If your country is not listed, why not obtain the contact information and send it in for posting so others can use the links? And if your country is listed—GET ON IT. Let the national leaders know you are aware of THE solution to the problems facing the world. Demand they check it out. Respectfully invoking the name of GOD is entirely appropriate.

A thousand messages to any leader SHALL be noticed. Moreover, this approach is entirely consistent with GCH's teaching that it will, ultimately, come down to THE PEOPLE. Simply put, the feast has been prepared and at this point it is just a matter of seeing how many show up to participate. Have you really got anything better to do than SHARE THE GOOD NEWS? What you will do is up to you and the awakening, hopefully, God within you.

THE DOG BARKS BUT THE TRAIN ROLLS ON

After an unexplained hiatus of over a month—but which "just happened" to coincide with a certain Notice given to the United States Treasury by COSMOS—VK Durham is back online. Yes, we certainly do have reason to believe she is an agent of the U.S. Treasury and it's just too bad she has brought so much discredit to them.

The "GAIA-EKKER 'NAZI-AL QAEDA'" articles are being passed around like email jokes for their hilarity factor. She now doesn't give a "dam" whether or not she was ever married to Russell Herman (not Herman/Herrman/

Final Warning: Part 2

Part 2 covers the history of the masonic lodges and allows us to observe how current events in the Middle East are directly tied to centuries of planning by a few individuals in these orders. It can also help us understand the recent death by chainsaw of the Vatican's leading banker and Opus Dei member, Gianmario Roveraro, who was cut to pieces and left hanging under a bridge in Parma, Italy. On the Luciferian side their covenant's are sealed by blood. This book's coverage of the past several centuries is a good review of the NWO plan for all Nations. We honor David Rivera for his courage in putting forth this book, Final Warning: A History of the New World Order.

[QUOTING, emphasis added:]

Examining Masonic Tradition

Any organization which strives to adhere to such a high moral standard certainly should deserve our admiration and respect. However, why have they elicited the criticism that they have? The Vatican has issued many Edicts condemning Masonry: Pope Clement XII in 1738, Pope Benedict XIV in 1751, Pope Plus VII in 1821, Pope Leo XII in 1825, Pope Plus VIII in 1829, Pope Gregory XVI in 1832, Pope Plus IX in 1846 and 1873, and Pope Leo XIII in 1884 and 1892. Pope Leo XXIII said that the goal of the Masons was the “overthrow of the whole religious, political and social order based on Christian institutions and the establishment of a state of things based on pure naturalism”. Until 1974, the Roman Catholic Church had forbidden its members to be Masons, and on March 21, 1981, the Vatican warned that “all Roman Catholics who belong to Masonic lodges risk excommunication”.

In 1784, and again in 1845, the Bavarian government considered Masonry a danger to the state. In 1814, The Regency of Milan and Governor of Venice echoed these same sentiments. King John VI of Portugal issued orders in 1816, and again in 1824, prohibiting the operation of the fraternity. In Russia, in 1820, Alexander I banished the Order.

Many writers in the late 1800's, such as Archbishop Meurin and Dr. Bataille, said that Masonry was just a cover organization for Satan worship, which occurred within its higher degrees, and was unknown to the ordinary member. In 1921, Dr. James Anderson wrote a booklet on Freemasonry called The Anderson Constitution in which he wrote: “Freemasonry rapidly expanded in Europe. In France, a number of the Masonic sects dabbled with magic and occultism. In Germany some were called Order of the Gold, and Rosy Cross (or Rosicrucians). In England, during the 1880's, the famous magical society, the Hermetic Order of the Golden Dawn adopted most of the Masonic grades.” Many Druid ceremonies and witchcraft rites have been incorporated into Masonic rituals.

So, are the Masons a Christian organization? The answer is a resounding No! Their literature claims that Jesus was just a man, equal to Mohammed and Krishna, the Hindu god. He is called the “son of Joseph,” not the Son of God. Initiates are told that Masonic rituals are “based on the Bible,” however in Chase's Digest of Masonic Law it says that “Masonry has nothing whatever to do with the Bible . . . it is not founded upon the Bible, for if it were it would not be Masonry, it would be something else.” Chase said that the Bible is just one of the ‘holy books’ of man, equal to the Koran, Hindu Scriptures and others. Its literal meaning was meant only for the ignorant masses.

At the end of the initiation for the Royal Arch degree, the initiate has the lost name of ‘God’ whispered to him, which is ‘Jebulon’. Mackey, in his Encyclopedia of Freemasonry, said that “Freemasonry is not Christianity”, and indicates that this name actually represents a composite of the names of the sun god of three religions: ‘Jah’, the Syrian form of Jehovah; ‘Ee’, which is Baal; and ‘On’, the Egyptian sun god. J. D. Buck (32nd degree) wrote in Mystic Masonry (1925): “The only personal God Freemasonry accepts is humanity in toto . . . Humanity therefore is the only personal God that there is.” Their Masonic philosophy is that God is whatever you want him to be and is referred to in general terms as the ‘deity’ and the ‘Great Architect of the Universe’, but in higher degrees, he is identified as a force of nature, usually the sun.

Mackey, in his Masonic Rituals said that the elimination of the name of Jesus, and references to Him, in Bible verses used in rituals are “slight but necessary modifications”. Mackey also wrote in his Lexicon of Freemasonry: “The religion then of Masonry is pure theism on which its different members engraft their particular opinions, but they are not permitted to introduce them into the lodge or to connect their truth or falsehood with the truth of Masonry . . . A Christian Mason is not permitted to introduce his own peculiar opinions with regard to Christ's mediatorial office into the Lodge.” No Masonic prayers in monitors, handbooks and guides, end in Jesus' name, and if it is discovered that they do, the Grand Lodge of that state will revoke their charter. Edmond Ronayne (a Master Mason), wrote on page 74 of the Masonic Handbook (later revised to eliminate the passage): “When a brother reveals any of our great secrets . . . or whenever a minister prays in the name of Christ in any of our assemblies, you must always hold yourself in readiness, if called upon, to cut his throat from ear to ear, pull out his tongue by the roots, and bury his body at the bottom of some lake or pond.” According to Morris in The Freemason's Monitor (or Webb's Monitor), which omits any reference to the name of Jesus: “Prayer . . . should be of a general character, containing nothing offensive to any class of conscientious brethren.”

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale (1898-1993), author of The Power of Positive Thinking was a 33rd degree Mason and his name appeared in many Masonic publications. In March, 1991, he was featured in the cover story of The Scottish Rite Journal (formerly known as the New Age magazine), and is quoted as saying that “Masonry became an early and essential part of my success.” On Sunday, February 24, 1991, Peale had told the congregation of Robert Schuller's Crystal Cathedral in California: “Jesus Christ, Buddha and Krishna are examples of great philosophers who taught how to use mind power.” In May, 1991, at a Dallas, Texas seminar for Christian writers, Dina Donahue, a contributing editor for Guidepost magazine (which Peale founded), said that any submission to the publication can never refer to the deity of Jesus, and claim that He is the only means by which salvation can be achieved. He can only be presented in a historical context as a prophet and philosopher. She said that the reason for this was that “Guidepost is an interfaith magazine, and Dr. Peale does not want to offend those who are not Christians.”

In Les Sectes et Societies Secretes published in 1863, Le Couteux de Canteleu wrote that the goal of the Masonic Order “was, is and will always be the struggle against the Church and the Christian religion . . .”. Joseph Fort Newton wrote in The Builders: “Masonry . . . is Religion, a worship in which all good men may unite, that each may share the faith of all . . . Where else, except in a Masonic lodge, could men of many religions meet, each praying for all and all for one.”

Herrmann?). Fine because, of course, she WASN'T.

We do, however, have to take exception to her statement that “Russell Herman did not own anything anyway involved with BONUS 3392-181.” It is VK Durham who never had anything to do with COSMOS SEAFOOD ENERGY MARKETING, LTD., other than to make the absurd claim it was somehow “retired”. Go ahead, anyone, look up the statutes involving Nevada corporations and tell us where there is any kind of a provision related to “retiring” a corporation. Nor can anyone just “reincorporate” a 1985 corporation as poor demented VK insists we did. Of course it seems nearly anything is possible in VK Durham World, a fantastic place uniquely populated with just one individual, Queen VK.

The FACT is: CSEML, to which the value pertaining to Bonus 3392-181 was assigned by Russell Herman, is in good hands. VK knows, or should know, that playing around with the “full color original”, which she has stated is in her possession (and quite unlawfully, being property of the corporation—tsk, tsk), will only merit her incarceration. And we suppose that is why all the bluff and bluster. If not, and this question is addressed to any of those who want to believe VK's nonsense: WHY ISN'T SHE USING IT? We have not done anything to block HER, nor will we, so why does she waste so much time on little ol' US instead of acting on her own supposedly meritorious claim? A nice, full-color instrument like that? Right.

While we're at it, we should straighten out the following asinine statement as well. VK writes:

“The NAZI-AL QAEDA ‘Echert’ (Ekker) CIA Counterfeit U.S. Debt Operation operated with ‘diplomatic immunity’...out of the Philippines. Even to the employment of previously employed by Krupp., former Krupp Engineers.. Anyone know Krupp's position in WWI and WWII? They were and are the MUNITIONS MANUFACTURERS who backed THE NAZIS and their ‘former engineer’ went to work for the GAIA-EKKER'S operation in the Philippines (I would have to pull up the Contact Paper they publish, but I believe it was 2002).”

We challenge anyone to show any such connection, in 2002 or otherwise. We are neither National Socialists nor Ashkenazi; have no involvement with the CIA other than as the objects of investigation and surveillance; are not involved with anything counterfeit; have never availed ourselves of any “diplomatic immunity”; and have never had an involvement with anyone who worked for Krupp enterprises before or during World War Two. Five LIES in two sentences could be a record even for our mentally and spiritually challenged VK Durham, U.S. Treasury. And no, we won't help the poor dear out except to say Russell Herman himself was known around these parts as “THE GERMAN”. How could VK not have known that simple fact?

Of course, if you want to know of shameful involvement with Krupp during World War Two, you should look up the activities of George W's grandfather and George HW's father, Prescott Bush—but then, that is rather widely known nowadays. TODAY, Krupp is one of the pre-eminent manufacturing companies in the world and why anyone should believe it shameful to have an association with the company is beyond our grasp. It's another phenomenon unique to VKD World, we suppose.

With Mount Mayon erupting and a 7.2 earthquake in Indonesia in the last few hours it is obvious things are heating up GLOBALLY. Oh dod, oh dod, what will YOU do about it?

Ron

Mackey wrote in his Textbook of Masonic Jurisprudence, that Masonry is “undoubtedly a religious institution”; and also in his Manual of the Lodge, he emphatically states that “Masonry is a religious institution.” Buck wrote in Mystic Masonry that Masonry is “a world wide religion . . . Masonry is the universal religion only because and so long as it embraces all religions.” The Masons have their own Luciferian based

High level Masons believe that Lucifer never fell to earth and that Lucifer is really God, and refer to Jehovah by the name of 'Adonay', saying that he is the god of evil because he forces men to be subservient to his repressive dictates. Masonic books given to handpicked members of the 32nd and 33rd Degrees say that Jesus was an impostor, and that Lucifer is the true God.

calendar. Where ours is based on the years before (B.C.) and after (A.D.) the birth of Christ, theirs counts its years with the suffix A.L. means Anno Lucis or ‘Year of Light (Lucifer)’.

In Morals and Dogma, Pike wrote: “Every Masonic lodge is a temple of religion; and its teachings are instruction in religion . . . Masonry, like all religions, all the Mysteries, Hermeticism and Alchemy, conceals its secrets from all except the Adepts and Sages, or the Elect, and uses false explanations and misinterpretations of its symbols to mislead . . . to conceal the Truth, which it calls Light, from them, and to draw them away from it . . . The truth must be kept secret, and the masses need a teaching proportioned to their imperfect reason.” He wrote that “every man’s conception of God must be proportioned to his mental cultivation, and intellectual powers, and moral excellence. God is, as man conceives him, the reflected image of man himself”. The next statement reduces the Masonic philosophy to a single premise. Pike writes: “The true name of Satan, the Kabalists say, is that of Yahweh reversed; for Satan is not a black god . . . Lucifer, the Light Bearer! Strange and mysterious name to give to the Spirit of Darkness! Lucifer, the Son of the Morning! Is it he who bears the Light . . . Doubt it not!”

These various passages should settle any arguments concerning the anti-Christian nature of the Masons. Their role in history seemed to be to act as a diluting factor, to lessen the impact of Christianity through tolerance, and to politically work towards the goals established by the Illuminati.

The Masonic Organizational Structure

The Blue Lodge (Symbolic Lodge of Masonry):

1) Entered Apprentice, 2) Fellow-Craft, 3) Master Mason

Albert Pike explained in Morals & Dogma: “The Blue Degrees are but the outer court or portico of the Temple. Part of the symbols are displayed there to the Initiate, but he is intentionally misled by false interpretations. It is not intended that he shall understand them; but it is intended that he shall imagine he understands them. Their true explication is reserved for the Adepts, the Princes of Masonry . . . It is well enough for the mass of those called Masons, to imagine that all is contained in the Blue Degrees; and whoso attempts to undeceive them will labor in vain.”

Lodge of Perfection

(Scottish Rite or Ancient and Accepted Scotch Rite):

4) Secret Master, 5) Perfect Master, 6) Intimate Secretary, 7) Provost and Judge, 8) Intendant of the Building, 9) Master Elect of Nine, 10) Elect of Fifteen, 11) Sublime Master Elected (Sublime Knights Elect of the Twelve), 12) Grand Master Architect, 13) Master of the Ninth Arch (Knight of the Ninth Arch), 14) Grand Elect Mason

Council of Princes of Jerusalem:

15) Knight of the East (Knight of the Sword), 16)

Prince of Jerusalem

Chapter of Rose-Croix:

17) Knight of the East and West, 18) Prince of Rose-Croix (Knight of the Eagle)

The Consistory (Council of Kadosh):

19) Grand Pontiff, 20) Master Ad Vitam (Grand Master of all Symbolic Lodges), 21) Patriarch Noachite (Prussian Knight), 22) Prince of Libanus (Knight of the Royal Axe), 23) Chief of the Tabernacle, 24) Prince of the Tabernacle, 25) Knight of the Brazen Serpent, 26) Prince of Mercy, 27) Commander of the Temple, 28) Knight of the Sun (Prince Adept), 29) Knight of St. Andrew, 30) Grand Elect Knight of Kadosh.

Consistory of Sublime Princes of the Royal Secret:

31) Grand Inspector Inquisitor Commander, 32) Sublime Prince of the Royal Secret

Supreme Council:

33) Sovereign Grand Inspector General

The Mother Supreme Council of the World in Washington, D.C., awards all 33rd Degrees. It is the only degree that can’t be earned—it is conferred “because of outstanding service to others which reflects credit upon the Order”. All Illuminati members are 33rd Degree Masons.

Red Masonry or York Rite (or Craft Masonry):

All Masons go through the first 3 degrees of the Blue Lodge, and must then decide whether they want to enter either the Scottish or York Rites (Capitular Degrees). Mark Master, Past Master, Most Excellent Master, Royal Arch Mason (Holy Royal Arch), Royal Master, Select Master, Super Excellent Master, Order of the Red Cross, Order of the Knights of Malta, Order of Knights Templar.

THE ILLUMINATI GROWS

From Bavaria, the Order of the Illuminati spread into the Upper and Lower Rhenish provinces, Suabia, Franconia, Westphalia, Upper and Lower Saxony; and outside Germany into Austria and Switzerland. Soon they had over 300 members from all walks of life, including students, merchants, doctors, lawyers, judges, professors, civil officers, bankers, and ministers. Some of their more notable members were: the Duke of Orleans, Duke Ernst Augustus of Saxe-Weimar-Coburg-Gotha, Prince Charles of Hesse-Cassel, Johann Gottfried von Herder (a philosopher), Count Klemens von Metternich, Catherine II of Russia, Count Gabriel de Mirabeau, Marquis of Constanza (‘Diomedes’), Duke Ferdinand of Brunswick (‘Aaron’), Duke Karl August of Saxe-Weimar, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe (a poet), Joseph II of Russia, Christian VII of Denmark, Gustave III of Sweden, and King Poniatowski of Poland.

By 1783, there were over 600 members; and by 1784, their membership reached nearly 3,000. By 1786 they had numerous lodges across the various German provinces, Austria, Hungary, England, Scotland, Poland, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Holland, Spain, Sweden, Russia, Ireland, Africa, and America.

By the time of the 3rd Masonic Congress in Frankfurt in 1786, the Illuminati virtually controlled all the Masonic lodges, and at this meeting their goals were stated as: “1) Pantheism for the higher degrees, atheism for the lower degrees and the populace; 2) Communism of goods, women, and general concerns; 3) The destruction of the Church, and all forms of Christianity, and the removal of all existing human governments to make way for a universal republic in which the utopian ideas of complete liberty from existing social, moral, and religious restraint, absolute equality, and social fraternity, should reign.”

Students who were members of wealthy families, with international leanings, were recommended for special training in internationalism. Those selected by the Illuminati were given scholarships to attend special schools. Weishaupt wrote: “I propose academies under the direction of the Order. This will secure us the adherence of the Literati. Science shall here be the lure.” He also wrote: “We must acquire the direction of education, of church, management of the professorial chair, and of the pulpit.” Today, there are many such schools. Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth, was educated at an Illuminati school in Gordonstown, Scotland, at the insistence of Lord Louis Mountbatten (who became an admiral after the end of World War II, and had an uncle who was a Rothschild relative). Those trained at such schools were placed behind the scenes as experts and advisors to perpetuate Illuminati goals.

Weishaupt, worried that his control of the Order was diminishing, argued repeatedly with Knigge. While he preferred to work in secrecy, Knigge wanted to move on to more substantial things. In January, 1783, Knigge wrote in a letter to Zwack: “It is the Jesuitry of Weishaupt that causes all our divisions, it is the despotism that he exercises over men perhaps less rich than himself in imagination, in ruses, in cunning . . . I declare that nothing can put me on the same footing with Spartacus as that on which I was a first.” He also wrote: “I abhor treachery and profligacy, and I leave him to blow himself and his Order into the air.” On April 20, 1784, Knigge quit, followed by Baron Bassus (‘Hannibal’), Count Toring, Prince Kreitmaier, and others. In July, Knigge signed an agreement promising to return all documents in his possession, and to keep quiet on what he knew about their plans and activities. Some researchers believe that Knigge had also discovered that Weishaupt was a Satanist. He resumed his work as a writer, later becoming an inspector of schools at Bremen, where he died on May 6, 1796.

To insure that the activities of the Order would remain a secret, a warning as to the consequences of betraying the Order was includ[ed] in the ceremony of initiation. They would point a sword at the initiate and say: “If you are a traitor and a perjurer, learn that all our Brothers are called upon to arm themselves against you. Do not hope to escape or find a place of safety. Wherever you are, shame, remorse, and the rage of our Brothers will pursue you, and torment you to the innermost recesses of your entrails.”

In October, 1783, Joseph Utzschneider, a lawyer, who had dropped out of the Order in August, presented to the Duchess Maria Anna, a document which detailed the activities of the Illuminati. He was upset because he had been promoted too slow, and was constantly prodded to prove his loyalty. The Duchess gave the information to the Duke. On June 22, 1784, Duke Karl Theodore Dalberg, the Elector Palatinate of Bavaria, after discovering from the information that the goals of the Illuminati were to “in time rule the world”, by overthrowing all civil government, criticized all secret societies, and groups established without government sanction. On March 2, 1785, he issued a proclamation identifying the Illuminati as a branch of the Masons, and ordered that their Lodges be shut down. The government began a war against the Order by initiating judicial inquiries at Ingolstadt. In an attempt to preserve the secrecy of their motives, the Areopagite burned many of their documents, however, the government was able to seize many of their papers when they raided the Lodges.

After being replaced at the University in February, Weishaupt fled across the border into Regensburg, finally settling in Gotha, where he found refuge with another Illuminati member, the Duke of Saxe-Gotha.

In April, 1785, Utzschneider was able to convince three other members to come forward. They were fellow professors at the Marienburg (Marianen) Academy who had doubts about the validity of the organization’s principles when they discovered that they would receive no mystical powers. They were also disgruntled over Weishaupt's tyranny. Cossandey, Grunberger, and Renner went before the Court of Inquiry on September 9, 1785, where they supplied valuable information, such as membership lists, and revealed their aims and goals, which they consolidated into the following six points:

1) Abolition of the Monarchy and all ordered government., 2) Abolition of private property. 3) Abolition of inheritance., 4) Abolition of patriotism., 5) Abolition of the family, through the abolition of marriage, all morality, and the institution of communal education for children., 6) Abolition of all religion.

The purposes of these six points were to divide the people politically, socially, and economically; to weaken countries and create a one-world government. They testified that "all religion, all love of country and loyalty to sovereigns, were to be annihilated . . .".

The government pardoned all public officials and military leaders who publicly admitted membership. Those who didn't, and were discovered to be members, lost their rank and standing, were removed from office, and openly disgraced and humiliated.

Weishaupt was preparing to set his plans into motion for the French Revolution, which was slated to begin in 1789. In July, 1785, he instructed Zwack to put their plans in book form. This book contained a history of the Illuminati, and many of their ideas for expansion and future endeavors. A copy was sent by courier (identified as Jacob Lanze) to Illuminati members in Paris and Silesia. However, after leaving Frankfurt, as the courier rode through Regensburg (another source says it was Ratisbon) on horseback, he was struck by lightning and killed. The authorities found the document and turned it over to the government. Another source indicates the possibility that he may have been murdered, and the documents planted on him.

Xavier Zwack ('Cato'), a government lawyer, and one of the Order's most prominent leaders, whose name was on Renner's list, had his house in Landshut illegally searched by the police in October, 1785, and his papers seized. He was dismissed from his position. Many books, documents, papers and correspondence were discovered, including over 200 letters written between Weishaupt and the members of the Areopagite, which dealt with matters of the highest secrecy. The following year, more information was taken from the houses of Baron Bassus and Count Massenhausen ('Ajar'). Among the confiscated documents, were tables which contained their secret codes and symbols, secret calendar, geographical locations, insignias, ceremonies of initiation, recruiting instructions, statutes, a partial roster of members, and nearly 130 official seals from the government, which were used to counterfeit state documents.

Needless to say, all of this information shed more light on the Order, and the danger first realized by the government, had now become a national emergency. In 1786, the government gathered all of the confiscated documents, and published them in a book called Original Writings of the Order and Sect of the Illuminati, which was circulated to every government and crowned head in Europe, including France, to warn them of the impending danger.

The leaders of the Order who appeared before the government's Court of Inquiry, testified that the organization was dedicated to the overthrow of church and state. However, these revelations, and the publication of their documents, did little to alert the public, because of their unbelievable claims. New measures were taken by government officials. The leaders of the Order were arrested and formally interrogated, then forced to renounce the Illuminati. The final blow came on August 16, 1787, when Dalberg issued his final proclamation against the Illuminati. Anyone found guilty of recruiting members were to be executed, while those who were recruited, would have their property confiscated and then be deported.

Zwack, who was banished, sought sanctuary in the Court of Zweibrucken, where he was later appointed to an official position in the principality of Salm-Kyburg. He contributed to the Illuminati movement in Holland. He was later summoned by Dalberg, as the government tried to deal with the problem of fugitives who might attempt to reorganize the Order. Zwack fled to England.

On November 15, 1790, another Edict was announced against the members of the organization. Anyone found to be an active member, was to be put to death. The following year, a list of 91 names of alleged members was compiled. They were hunted down, and banished. This harassment didn't end until 1799, when Dalberg died.

The apparent demise of the Order was taken into stride by its highest members, who continued to operate underground. Weishaupt wrote: "The great care of the Illuminati after the publication of their secret writings was to persuade the whole of Germany that their Order no longer existed, that their adepts had all renounced, not only their mysteries, but as members of a secret society." Weishaupt had a contingency plan ready, and wrote: "By this plan we shall direct all mankind. In this manner, and by the simplest means, we shall set in motion and in flames. The occupations must be allotted and contrived, that we may in secret, influence all political transactions . . . I have considered everything and so prepared it, that if the Order should this day go to ruin, I shall in a year re-establish it more brilliant than ever."

To hide their subversive activities, the highest members of the Order began to masquerade as humanitarians and philanthropists. Weishaupt fled to Switzerland, later returning to Germany, where the Duke of Saxe-Gotha gave him sanctuary. The Order moved their headquarters to London, where it began to grow again. Weishaupt told his followers to infiltrate the lodges of Blue Masonry, and to form secret circles within them. Only Masons who proved themselves as Internationalists, and were atheists, were initiated into the Illuminati.

THE GERMAN UNION

Dr. Charles Frederick Bahrdt (1741-1793), an Illuminati member, Mason, and German theologian, who was the professor of Sacred Philology at the University of Leipzig, took advantage of the Illuminati's apparent demise by recruiting several of its members for his so-called 'German Union' in 1787. Bahrdt, the son of a minister, called his group the German Union for Rooting Out Superstition and Prejudices and Advancing True Christianity.

In 1785, Bahrdt had received an anonymous letter, containing the plans for the German Union, which was signed, "From some Masons, your great admirers." That same year, he was visited by an Englishman who urged him to establish the Union, promising to link it with the British Masonic structure. In 1787, he received another letter containing more details and organizational details.

Bahrdt had done some religious propaganda work for Weishaupt, "to destroy the authority of the Scriptures", and it was commonly believed that it was Weishaupt who was directing the activities of the organization behind the scenes in order to carry on the goals of the Illuminati.

The German Union appeared to be a Reading Society, and one was set up in Zwack's house in Landshut. Weishaupt wrote: "Next to this, the form of a learned of literary society is best suited to our purpose, and had Freemasonry not existed, this cover would have been employed; and it may be much more than a cover, it may be a power engine in our hands. By establishing reading societies, and subscription libraries, and taking these under our direction, and supplying them through our labors, we may turn the public mind which way we will

. . . A literary society is the most proper form for the introduction of our Order into any State where we are yet strangers." They planned about 800 such Reading Rooms.

The membership initially consisted of 17 young men, and about five of Bahrdt's friends. Knigge helped him to develop the organizational structure, which was divided into six grades:

1) Adolescent, 2) Man, 3) Elder, 4) Mesopolite, 5) Diocesan, 6) Superior

The 'Society of the 22' or the 'Brotherhood' was its inner circle.

In a pamphlet entitled To All Friends of Reason, Truth and Virtue, Bahrdt wrote that the organization's purpose was to accomplish the enlightenment of people in order to disseminate religion, remove popular prejudices, root out superstition, and restore liberty to mankind. They planned to have magazines and pamphlets, but by 1788, Bahrdt had sunk over $1,000 into the group, and was spending all of his time working on it. Despite his efforts, they still only had 200 members.

Near the end of 1788, Frederick Wilhelm, the King of Prussia, worried about the growth of the organization, had Johann Christian von Wollner, one of his ministers, write an opposing view to Bahrdt's pamphlet, called the Edict of Religion. Bahrdt responded by anonymously writing another pamphlet of the same name to satirize it. In 1789, a bookseller by the name of Goschen, wrote a pamphlet called More Notes Than Text, on the German Union of XXII, a New Secret Society for the Good of Mankind, in which he revealed that the group was a continuation of the Illuminati.

The German Union, which represented Weishaupt's "corrected system of Illuminism", never really got off the ground because of its openness, which provoked hostile attacks from the government and members of the clergy. Bahrdt left the group and opened up a tavern known as 'Bahrdt's Repose'. The German Union ceased to exist after he died in 1793.

THE FRENCH REVOLUTION

The Illuminati had secretly spread to France by 1787 (five years after they had planned), through French orator and revolutionary leader Count Gabriel Victor Riqueti de Mirabeau (1749-1791, Order name 'Leonidas') who had been indoctrinated by Col. Jacob Mauvillon while he was in Berlin on a secret mission for King Louis XVI of France in 1786. Mirabeau introduced Illuminati principles at the Paris Masonic Lodge of the Amis Reunis (later renamed 'Philalethes'), and initiated Abbé Charles-Maurice de Talleyrand-Perigord (1754-1838, a court cleric in the House of Bourbon).

The most trusted members were brought into the 'Secret Committee of United Friends' (it is interesting to note that a group of the same name originated in 1771 as an occult group). The initiations took place at the Illuminati's Grand Lodge, about 30 miles from Paris, in the Ermenonville mansion owned by the Marquis de Gerardin. The famous impostor Saint Germain (1710-1780, or 1785) presided over the initiation ceremonies.

Germain was believed to be a Portuguese Jew, who was a member of the Philalethes Lodge. He was a Mason, a Rosicrucian, and belonged to several other occult brotherhoods. He spoke Italian, German, English, Spanish, French, Greek, Sanskrit, Arabic, and Chinese. He was said to be the son of Prince Rakoczy of Transylvania; raised by the last Medici, Gian Gastone; and was educated at the University of Siena. He told people that he had lived for centuries, and knew King Solomon. He was arrested in London in 1743 for being a Jacobite spy, and he took credit for establishing Freemasonry in Germany. As an impostor, he posed as Comte Bellamarre, Marquis de Montferrat, and Chevalier Schoening.

During the initiation, new members were sworn to “reveal to thy new chief all thou shalt have heard, learned and discovered, and also to seek after and spy into things that might have otherwise escaped thy notice . . . (and to) avoid all temptation to betray what thou has now heard. Lightning does not strike so quickly as the dagger which will reach thee wherever thou mayest be”.

Count Alessandro de Cagliostro (also known as Giuseppe Balsamo), a Jew from Sicily, who was said to be one of the greatest occult practitioners of all time, was initiated into the Illuminati at Mitau (near Frankfurt) in 1780, in an underground room. He later said, that an iron box filled with papers was opened, and a book taken out. From it, a member read the oath of secrecy, which began: “We, Grand Masters of Templars . . .”. It was written in blood. The book was an outline of their plans, which included an attack on Rome. He discovered that they had money at their disposal in banks at Amsterdam, Rotterdam, London, Genoa, and Venice. He found out that the Illuminati had 20,000 lodges throughout Europe and America, and that their members served in every European court. Cagliostro was instructed to go to Strasbourg, France, to make the initial contacts necessary for the instigation of the French Revolution. Identified as a Grand Master of the Prieuré de Sion, it is believed that he was the liaison between them and the Illuminati. He was arrested in 1790, in Rome, for revolutionary activities.

The French Masons had committed themselves to a plan for overthrowing the government, under the guise of liberty and equality; ending the autocratic regimes, in order to have government by and for the people. Jeremy Bentham and William Petty (Earl of Shelburne) planned and directed the French Revolution, then later directed the plot towards America.

In 1788, at the request of Mirabeau and Talleyrand, Johann Joachim Christoph Bode (1730-1793, ‘Amelius’), a lawyer at Weimar, and a Mason, was summoned to France. He had been initiated into the Illuminati at the Congress of Wilhelmsbad, and later took over the Order in the absence of Weishaupt. Bode and Baron de Busche (‘Bayard’), a Dutch military officer in the service of the Landgrave of Hesse-Darmstadt, in order to conceal the purpose of their presence in France, said they were there to investigate the influence of the Jesuits on the secret societies. However, the real reason for them being there, was to further the goals of the Illuminati in France. They operated out of the Lodge of the Amis Reunis, changing its name to ‘Philalethes,’ which means, ‘searchers after the truth’.

The Marquis de Luchet, a friend of Mirabeau, wrote in his Essay on the Sect of the Illuminati in January, 1789: “Deluded people. You must understand that there exists a conspiracy in favor of despotism, and against liberty, of incapacity against talent, of vice against virtue, or ignorance against light! . . . Every species of error which afflicts the earth, every half-baked idea, every invention serves to fit the doctrines of the Illuminati . . . The aim is universal domination.”

Intellectuals known as ‘encyclopedists’ were instrumental in spreading Illuminati doctrine. Soon other lodges became aligned with the Philalethes, such as the Nine Sisters; the Lodge of Candor, which included members like Laclos, Sillery, D’Aiguillon; the Lameth Brothers, Dr. Guillotine, and Lafayette; and the Propaganda, which was established by Condorcet, Abbé Sieyes, and Rochenfoucault.

Revolutionary leaders in France, such as Maximilien Francois Marie Isidore de Robespierre (1758-1794), who was made head of the Revolution by Weishaupt; Marquis Antoine Nicholas Condorcet (1743-1794), philosopher and politician; Duke de la Rochenfoucault; George Jacques Danton (1759-1794); Marquis Marie Joseph de Lafayette (1757-1834), General and statesman; Jerome Petion de Villeneuve (1756-1794), politician; Philippe, Duke of Orleans, Grand Master of French Freemasonry; de Leutre; Fauchet; Camille Benoit Desmoulins (1760-1794), D’Alembert; Denis Diderot (1713-1784), encyclopedist; and Jean-Francois de la Harpe (1739-1803), critic and playwright, all joined the Illuminati, who had eventually infiltrated all 266 Masonic lodges by 1789, even though the Masons weren’t aware of it.

The Illuminati created situations in order to create dissention among the people. For instance, the Duke of Orleans instructed his agents to buy up as much grain as they could, then the people were led to believe that the King intentionally caused the shortage, and that the French people were starving. Fellow conspirators in the government helped create runaway inflation. Thus the people were manipulated into turning against a king whose reign had strengthened the middle class. The monarchy was to be destroyed, and the middle class oppressed. God was to be replaced by the Illuminati’s religion of reason that “man’s mind would solve man’s problems.

During the first two years of the French Revolution, which started in April, 1789, the Illuminati had infiltrated the Masonic Lodges to such an extent, that they had ceased operation, and instead rallied under the name, “The French Revolutionary Club”. When they needed a larger meeting place, they used the hall of the Jacobin’s Convent. This revolutionary group of 1300 people emerged on July 14, 1789 as the Jacobin Club. The Illuminati controlled the Club, and were directly responsible for fermenting the activities which developed into the French Revolution. Lord Acton wrote: “The appalling thing in the French Revolution is not the tumult but the design. Through all the fire and smoke, we perceived the evidence of calculating organization. The managers remain studiously concealed and masked; but there is no doubt about their presence from the first.”

In the playing out of a plan which called for the population to be cut down by one-third to one-half, over 300,000 people died, including the execution of King Louis and his family. This was done to insure the stability of the new French Republic. In August, 1792, after the overthrow of the government, the tri-colored banner was replaced by the red flag of social revolution, while the cry of “Vive notre roi d’Orleans” gave way to the Masonic watchword, “Liberty, Equality, Fraternity”! Those who responded with the proper Masonic handsigns, had their lives spared. By November, 1793, as the massacres had spread all over France, the churches had been reorganized along the lines of Weishaupt’s contention that “reason should be the only code of man”.

Talleyrand, who became the bishop of Autin in 1788, because of his radical reorganization of the Church, was excommunicated by the Pope. He became a deputy to the National Assembly. The Jacobins controlled the National Assembly, and for all intents and purposes, Mirabeau became France’s leader. In true Democratic spirit, he said: “We must flatter the people by gratuitous justice, promise them a great diminution in taxes and a more equal division, more extension in fortunes, and less humiliation. These fantasies will fanaticize the people, who will flatten all resistance.” The Revolution was considered at an end on July 28, 1794, when Robespierre was guillotined.

Thomas Jefferson, who served as minister to France for three years (1785-89), described the events as “so beautiful a revolution” and said that he hoped it would sweep the world. Treasury Secretary Alexander Hamilton said that Jefferson helped start the French Revolution, and wrote in a letter to a friend, dated May 26, 1792, that Jefferson “drank freely of the French philosophy, in religion, in science, in politics. He came from France in the moment of fermentation, which he had a share in inciting.” Jefferson wrote to Brissot de Warville in Philadelphia, in a letter dated May 8, 1793, that he was “eternally attached to the principles of the French Revolution”. In 1987, during a trip to the United States by Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev and his wife, where they visited the Jefferson Memorial, she referred to Jefferson as “one of the world’s greatest thinkers”.

It is interesting to note, that during the Communist revolution, Nikolai Lenin said: “We, the Bolsheviks, are the Jacobins of the Twentieth Century . . .”

An Illuminist, and member of the revolutionary French National Assembly, Vicomte de Barras, witnessed a 24 year old Napoleon repelling a siege at Toulon in 1793 by English and Spanish military forces. Barras, appointed by the Assembly as the Commander-in-Chief of the French military, in 1795 became a member of the five-man Directorate, which began to govern France, and soon became the most powerful political figure in the country. He chose Napoleon to lead the military forces. However, in 1799, Napoleon (a Knights Templar) broke his ties with Barras, because he feared Barras was attempting to restore the Monarchy. Napoleon eliminated the Directorate, and in 1804, with the support of Talleyrand (who served as his foreign minister), became Emperor. Unwittingly, as a puppet of the Illuminati, his reign brought about the total disruption of Europe, which was needed for the Illuminati to get control and unify it. He ended the Holy Roman Empire, and made his brother Joseph, the King of Naples in 1806. Joseph was replaced by Napoleon’s brother-in-law Murat, when Joseph became the King of Spain in 1808. His brother Louis was made the King of Holland, and another brother Jerome, the King of Westphalia.

In 1810, Napoleon confiscated the contents of the Vatican archives, which amounted to 3,000 cases of documents, and took it to Paris. Although most were later returned to Rome, some were kept. By this time, Napoleon had changed the face of Europe, but, he settled his warring ways and ultimately the French Revolution had failed, because Europe had not been fully conquered. The Illuminati immediately took steps to dethrone him, which took five years. In order to get money to Wellington’s English forces, Nathan Rothschild funneled money to his brother James (who handled financial transactions for the French government), in Paris, who got it to Wellington’s troops in Spain. In addition, the Illuminati secretly worked to make agreements that shifted national alliances against France.

Upon his defeat at Waterloo, Napoleon was again exiled, this time, to the island of Saint Helena in the south Atlantic, which is where he died in 1821. He had written in his will: “I die before my time, killed by the English oligarchy and its hired assassins.”

THE ILLUMINATI SPREADS TO AMERICA

In 1785, the Columbia Lodge of the Order of the Illuminati was established in New York City. Among its members were Governor DeWitt Clinton, Horace Greeley (politician and editor of the New York Daily Tribune), Charles Dana, and Clinton Roosevelt (the ancestor of Franklin D. Roosevelt). Roosevelt wrote a book called Science of Government Founded on Natural Law, in which he wrote: “There is no God of justice to order things aright on earth, if there be a God, he is a malicious and revengeful being, who created us for misery.” He referred to himself and other members as the “enlightened ones”, and said that the U.S. Constitution was a “leaky vessel” which was “hastily put together when we left the British flag”, and therefore needed revision.

In 1786, a lodge was started in Portsmouth, Virginia, where allegedly, Thomas Jefferson was a member; followed by fourteen others in different cities of the thirteen colonies.

On July 19, 1789, David Pappin, President of Harvard University, issued a warning to the graduating class, concerning the Illuminati’s influence on American politics and religion. In April, 1793, France sent new ambassador Edmond Genet to America, so he could collect payment for the American debt incurred during the American Revolution. The money was to be used to finance France's war with England. However, his real reason for being here, was to gain political favor for France, and spread Illuminism, which he did, through the establishment of 'Democratic Clubs'.

Washington said "they would shake the government to its foundations", while John Quincy Adams, oldest son of the 2nd President John Adams, who became our 6th President in 1825, said that these clubs were "so perfectly affiliated with the Parisian Jacobins that their origin from a common parent cannot possibly be mistaken". Because of the Illuminati threat, Washington and Adams lobbied Congress to pass the Alien and Sedition Act, which was "designed to protect the United States from the extensive French Jacobin conspiracy, paid agents of which were even in high places in the government".

In a letter from Adams to Jefferson, dated June 30, 1813, he wrote: "You certainly never felt the terrorism excited by Genet, in 1793 . . . when ten thousand people in the streets of Philadelphia, day after day threatened to drag Washington out of his house, and effect a revolution . . . nothing but (a miracle) . . . could have saved the United States from a fatal revolution of government."

Thomas Paine, author and political theorist, helped the Illuminati infiltrate several Masonic lodges. He revealed his loyalty to them when his book The Age of Reason was published in 1794, which dealt with the role of religion in society. Although he believed in God, he could not accept the entire Bible as being fact.

A second volume was published in 1796. An unofficial third volume (subtitled: Examination of the Prophecies) also appeared, which seriously questioned the deity and existence of Jesus. In 1937, The Times of London referred to him as "the English Voltaire".

On May 9, 1798, Rev. Jedediah Morse, pastor of the Congregational Church in Charleston, South Carolina preached a sermon at the New North Church in Boston, about the Illuminati: "Practically all of the civil and ecclesiastical establishments of Europe have already been shaken to their foundations by this terrible organization; the French Revolution itself is doubtless to be traced to its machinations; the successes of the French armies are to be explained on the same ground. The Jacobins are nothing more nor less than the open manifestation of the hidden system of the Illuminati. The Order has its branches established and its emissaries at work in America. The affiliated Jacobin Societies in America have doubtless had as the object of their establishment the propagation of the principles of the illuminated mother club in France . . . I hold it a duty, my brethren, which I owe to God, to the cause of religion, to my country and to you, at this time, to declare to you, thus honestly and faithfully, these truths. My only aim is to awaken you and myself a due attention, at this alarming period, to our dearest interests. As a faithful watchman I would give you warning of your present danger."

Later in July, Timothy Dwight, President of Yale University, told the people of New Haven: "Shall our sons become the disciples of Voltaire (a French writer) and the dragoons of Murat, or our daughters, the concubines of the Illuminati?"

To infiltrate the Masonic lodges in Europe, Weishaupt had enlisted the aid of John Robison, who was a long time, high degree Mason in the Scottish Rite, a professor of Natural Philosophy at Edinburgh University in Scotland, a British historian, and Secretary-General to the Royal Society of Edinburgh. When he went to Germany, he was given Weishaupt's revised conspiracy plans to study, in order to expand the Illuminati's influence in the British Isles. However, Robison didn't agree with their principles, and after warning American Masons in 1789, published a book to expose the organization in 1798 called Proofs of a Conspiracy Against All Religions and Governments of Europe, Carried On In the Secret Meetings of Freemasons, Illuminati, and Reading Societies (which presented the Protestant view). He wrote: "I have observed these doctrines gradually diffusing and mixing with all the different systems of Freemasonry till, at last, an association has been formed for the express purpose of rooting out all the religious establishments, and overturning all the existing governments of Europe."

Also, that same year, Abbé Augustin Barruel (French patriot, Jesuit, and 3rd degree Mason) published his Memoires pour servir a l'Histoire du Jacobinisme or Memoirs Illustrating the History of Jacobinism (which presented the Roman Catholic view). Both books sought to warn America about the Illuminati conspiracy, but the warnings were not taken seriously. The January, 1798 edition of the Monthly Magazine contained a letter by Augustus Bottiger, Provost of the College of Weimar, who accused Robison of making inaccurate statements, and said that since 1790, "every concern of the Illuminati has ceased".

Thomas Jefferson, believed to be a member of the Virginia lodge of the Illuminati, and a Mason (who helped the Illuminati to infiltrate the New England Masonic lodges), denied all the allegations, and described Weishaupt as "an enthusiastic philanthropist" and called Barruel's revelations "the ravings of a Bedlamite (Bedlam was the name of a hospital in London for the mentally insane)".

During the summer of 1798, Rev. G. W. Snyder, a Lutheran minister, wrote a letter to President Washington and included a copy of Robison's book, expressing his concern about the Illuminati infiltrating the American Masonic lodges. In Washington's response, dated September 25, 1798, he wrote: "I have heard much about the nefarious and dangerous plan and doctrines of the Illuminati," but went on to say that he didn't believe that they had become involved in the lodges. A subsequent letter by Snyder, requesting a more reassuring answer, resulted in a letter from Washington, dated October 24, 1798, which can be found in The Writings of George Washington (volume 20, page 518, which was prepared under the direction of the U.S. George Washington Bicentennial Commission and published by the U.S. Government Printing Office in 1941). He wrote:

"It was not my intention to doubt that the doctrines of the Illuminati and the principles of Jacobinism had not spread in the United States. On the contrary, no one is more satisfied of this fact than I am. The idea I meant to convey, was, that I did not believe that the lodges of Freemasons in this country had, as societies, endeavored to propagate the diabolical tenets of the first, or pernicious principles of the latter. That individuals of them may have done it, or that the founder or instruments employed to have found the democratic societies in the United States may have had this object, and actually had a separation of the people from their government in view, is too evident to be questioned."

Shortly before his death, Washington issued two more warnings about the Illuminati.

Around 1807, John Quincy Adams (said to have organized the New England Masonic lodges), who later became President in 1825, wrote three letters to Colonel William C. Stone, a top Mason, telling him that Thomas Jefferson, our 3rd President, and founder of the Democratic Party, was using the Masonic lodges for subversive Illuminati purposes. These letters were allegedly kept at the Rittenburg Square Library in Philadelphia, but have mysteriously vanished. Adams also wrote to Washington, saying that Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton were misusing Masonic lodges for Illuminati purposes and the worship of Lucifer (which is recorded in the Adams Chronicles).

Benjamin Franklin was also accused of being a member of the Illuminati, but there is no concrete proof of this. Jefferson seemed to be the main focus of everyone's ire. He was accused by the Federalists of being a Jacobin, and an atheist. There is some evidence to indicate that he did use the Democratic Societies and Jacobin Clubs in his 1796 battle with John Adams for the Presidency. The Rev. Jedediah Morse identified Jefferson as "an Illuminatus".

On July 4, 1812, Rev. Joseph Willard, the president of Harvard University, said in a speech in Lancaster, New Hampshire: "There is sufficient evidence that a number of societies, of the Illuminati, have been established in this land of Gospel light and civil liberty, which were first organized from the grand society, in France. They are doubtless secretly striving to undermine all our ancient institutions, civil and sacred. These societies are closely leagued with those of the same Order, in Europe; they have all the same object in view. The enemies of all order are seeking our ruin. Should infidelity generally prevail, our independence would fall of course. Our republican government would be annihilated . . ." When those advocating a strong

It has been suggested that one of the reasons that the British looted and burned Washington in 1812 was to destroy secret documents that would have exposed the treason against the United States by various people highly placed within the government.

central government organized the Federalist Party in 1791, the Anti-Federalists, who favored states' rights, and were against Alexander Hamilton's (Secretary of Treasury under Washington, 1789-1795) fiscal policies, which they felt benefited the wealthy, rallied under Thomas Jefferson, Washington's first Secretary of State (1789-93). They became an organized political party after the Constitutional Convention in 1787, led by New York Governor George Clinton (who was later Vice-President under Jefferson and Madison), Patrick Henry of Virginia, and Elbridge Gerry of Massachusetts (a signer of the Declaration of Independence). The Anti-Federalists were made up of the low class, farmers, and paper money advocates, who strongly opposed a strong central government as set forth in the U.S. Constitution of 1789, and succeeded in getting the Bill of Rights added. They were against a single, national government, upper class rule, and a weak program for the separation of powers.

The Jeffersonian Republicans, so named because of the anti-monarchy views of the Anti-Federalists, had power from 1801-1825. In 1796, the party split into the Democratic-Republicans, organized by New York State Senator Martin Van Buren (who became our 8th President, 1837-41), who concerned themselves with states' rights, farmers' interests and democratic procedures; and the National Republicans, led by John Quincy Adams, Henry Clay, and Daniel Webster, who merged with the Federalists in 1820. In 1826, the Democratic-Republicans became known as just plain Democrats, while the National Republicans became identified as only Republicans in 1854. That is how the two-party system was created in this country.

PHI BETA KAPPA

The fraternity known as Phi-Beta-Kappa was organized in 1776 by students at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Virginia (the second oldest in the country, founded in 1694), as a secret debating club. It was later infiltrated, and used to introduce Illuminati principles to America.

Their name was derived from their Greek password and motto, 'Philosophia Biou Kuberuetes', which means, 'Philosophy is the Guide of Life'. Open only to university students, their goal was to make philosophy, not religion, the guiding principle of man's actions. They had secret hand signals and handshakes up to 1831, when it was reorganized and changed from a social organization, to an honorary society for upper classmen with high scholastic standing.

During the 1700s, when it looked as though the fraternity would fold, one of its members, Elisha Parmele, received a grant to establish chapters at Yale in 1780 (Yale Professor of History, Gaddis Smith, said: "Yale has influenced the Central Intelligence Agency more than any other university, giving the CIA the atmosphere of a class reunion."), and at Harvard in 1781. They later grew to have chapters on 270 campuses, and with more than 500,000 members.

Among their member have been: Tom Brokaw (NBC commentator), Glenn Close (actress), Francis Ford Coppola (noted film director), Henry Kissinger (U.S. Secretary of State, 1973 to 1977; Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, 1969-75), Kris Kristofferson (singer/actor), Dean Rusk (Presidential advisor), Howard K. Smith (ABC commentator), Caspar Weinberger (U.S. Secretary of Defense, 1981-87), John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Nelson Rockefeller, President George H. W. Bush, President Jimmy Carter, President Bill Clinton, President Franklin Roosevelt, President Woodrow Wilson, Gov. Jeb Bush (from Florida), Sen. Joseph Lieberman (from Connecticut), Byron White (Supreme Court Justice), and Elihu Root (Secretary of State, 1905-1909; served in the U.S. Senate, 1909-1915; was president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, 1910-1925).

To be fair here, I have to say that the inclusion of Phi Beta Kappa is by no means intended to downplay the academic achievements of its thousands of members, or to give the connotation of it being an evil organization. However, its dubious beginnings, and the fact that many people in influential positions have come from their ranks, it certainly is reason enough to take note. But more than that, when you see their membership cross over into other organizations such as the Bilderbergers, Council on Foreign Relations, and Trilateral Commission; then you begin to see it as a possible breeding ground for people who are favorable to the international agenda that is leading to one-world government.

SKULL AND BONES

The Skull and Bones organization was founded at Yale University in 1832 by General William Huntington Russell (who later served in the Connecticut State legislature 1846-47) and Alphonso Taft (U.S. Secretary of War in 1876, Attorney General 1886-87, U.S. Minister to Austria 1882-84, U.S. Ambassador to Russia 1884-85, and the father of former president William Howard Taft); and incorporated in 1856 by Russell and Daniel Colt Gilman, under the name 'The Russell Trust Association'. Russell had visited Germany that year, where he was exposed to the Illuminati, and possibly initiated. He wanted to establish a similar group in America, where their sons could become members of a secret Order that would give them a favored status.

It became a black lodge of Freemasonry. In 1873, some Yale students broke into their headquarters, a windowless building called 'The Tomb' adjacent to the campus, where they discovered their insignia— the skull and bones, along with some real skulls and bones. They wrote in the Yale newspaper, the Iconoclast: "Year-by-year the deadly evil of the Skull and Bones is growing."

The Russell Trust is endowed by $54 million in alumni grants, and it is the alumni who control the group. Antony C. Sutton, a former Economics professor at Stanford University, wrote a four-volume series of books on the group, and revealed the names of 30 influential old-line American families who have contributed to its ranks (some of which can trace their lineage back to the 1600s, when they arrived from England), including Whitney, Lord, Phelps, Wadsworth, Allen, Bundy, Adams, Harriman, Rockefeller, Payne, Davison, and Pratt. Every year, 15 juniors are chosen to be members, and are called 'Knights'. Upon graduation, they are called the 'Patriarchs of the Order'.

Since its inception, over 2500 Yale graduates have been initiated. Its members have assimilated themselves into every area of business and government. Members have included: W. Averell Harriman (governor of New York, and advisor to various Democratic presidents), William P. Bundy (editor of the CFR's journal Foreign Affairs), J. Hugh Liedtke (co-founder of Pennzoil Oil Corp.), John Kerry (U.S. Senator from Massachusetts), David Boren (U.S. Senator from Oklahoma), William Sloane Coffin (President of SANE/FREEZE, Phi Beta Kappa), William F. Buckley (conservative commentator, editor of the National Review magazine), Gifford Pinchot (father of the environmental movement), Potter Stewart (Supreme Court Justice), William H. Taft (27th President), Archibald MacLeish (founder of UNESCO), Harold Stanley (investment banker, founder of Morgan Stanley), Dean Witter, Jr. (investment banker), Henry Luce (head of Time/Life magazines), Henry P. Davison (senior partner of Morgan Guaranty Trust), Alfred Cowles (of Cowles Communications), Richard Ely Danielson (of the Atlantic Monthly magazine), Winston Lord (Chairman of the CFR, Ambassador to China and assistant Secretary of State in the Clinton administration), Russell Wheeler Davenport (of Fortune magazine), McGeorge Bundy (national security advisor for President John Kennedy), John Sherman Cooper (U.S. Senator from Kentucky), John H. Chafee (U.S. Senator from Rhode Island), Henry Stimson (Secretary of State for President Herbert Hoover), Robert A. Lovett (Secretary of Defense for President Harry Truman), George H. W. Bush. (41st President, Bilderberger, CFR and Trilateral Commission member until 1980), and George W. Bush (43rd President).

Nicknamed 'Bonesmen', these establishment elites have become members of the Trilateral Commission and the Council on Foreign Relations, and have achieved high level positions in the Administrations of various Presidents, the Congress, and the government, in various capacities. From these positions, they can use their influence to work towards their common goal of one-world government.

Both the Skull and Bones, and Phi Beta Kappa, are indicative of the way the Illuminati functions. They know that if they can grab, control, and mold young minds, then they will have unwitting pawns to do their bidding, and could be called upon to contribute to their efforts. The early history of the Illuminati was nothing more than a seed that was planted. That is why there was a big emphasis on infiltrating educational institutions with their doctrine. As each class graduated through the educational systems of the world, the more people there were to perpetuate their plans. In time, the Illuminati knew they would have enough of the right people, in the right places, for them to secretly

CONGRESS OF VIENNA

In 1802, Europe was made up of several hundred states, which were dominated by England, Austria, Russia, Prussia and France, which was the most powerful country. In 1804, when Napoleon Bonaparte took over France, his military exploits had led to the complete control of virtually all of Europe. Even today, France has more land than any other country in western Europe. In 1812, when Napoleon moved against Russia; England, Spain and Portugal were already at war with France. They were later joined by Sweden, Austria; and in 1813, Prussia joined the coalition to end the siege of Europe, and to "assure its future peace by the re-establishment of a just equilibrium of the powers". In 1814, the coalition defeated France, and in March of that year, marched into Paris. France's borders were returned to their original 1792 location, which had been established by the First Peace of Paris, and Napoleon was exiled to Elba, a small island off the Tuscan coast of Italy.

After the Napoleonic Wars, the Illuminati thought the world would be tired of fighting, and would accept any solution to have peace. Through the Congress of Vienna (1814-15), the Rothschilds hoped to create a sort of League of Nations.

From September, 1814 to June, 1815, the four powers of the allied coalition, winners of the Napoleonic Wars, met at the Congress of Vienna, along with a large number of rulers and officials representing smaller states. It was the biggest political meeting in European history. Representing England, was Lord Robert Stewart, the 2nd Viscount Castlereagh; France, with Foreign Minister Charles-Maurice Talleyrand de Perigord; Prussia, with King Friedrich Wilhelm III; and Austria, with Emperor Franz II.

Other representatives were: Frederick VI, King of Denmark; Maximilian Joseph, King of Bavaria; Friedrich I, King of Wurttemberg; Napoleon II, King of Rome; Eugene de Beauharnais, Viceroy of Italy; King Friedrich August I of Saxony; Count Lowenhielm of Sweden; Cardinal Consalvi of the Papal States; Grand Duke Charles of Baden; Elector William of Hesse; Grand Duke George of Hesse-Darmstadt; Karl August, Duke of Weimar; the King of Bohemia; the King of Hungary; and emissaries from Spain, Portugal, Denmark, Holland, and other European States.

The main concern of the Congress was to redistribute conquered territories, create a balance of power, restore the pre-Napoleonic order through King Louis XVIII, return the power to families who were ruling in 1789, and to return the Roman Catholic Church to its former power. Discussion revolved around the creation of a Federation of Europe that would establish a group of independent kingdoms which would be tied together through an administrative governing body that would, among other things, provide military defense. In their plan, Switzerland was made a neutral state that served as a repository for their finances.

In March, 1815, Napoleon left Elba, because the pension promised him by King Louis XVIII was discontinued, and he believed that Austria was preventing his companion, Marie Louise, and his son, the former King of Rome (who became the Duke of Reichstadt in Vienna) from being able to join him. Plus, he was made aware of the growing discontent with the King. Thus Napoleon returned, began the Hundred Days War, and was immediately labeled a "public enemy". The coalition at the Congress put aside their diplomatic business, and joined in the battle.

Shortly before Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo, negotiations at the Congress of Vienna were completed, and the treaty was signed on June 9, 1815. The Second Peace of Paris, in November, exiled Napoleon to St. Helena, an island 1,000 miles off the African coast, where he died in 1821. The Russian czar saw through the planned European Federation, recognizing it as an Illuminati ploy, and would not go along with it. On September 26, 1815, the Treaty of Holy Alliance was signed by Alexander I of Russia, Francis II of Austria, and Frederick William III of Prussia, while the allies were negotiating the Second Peace of Paris. The Treaty guaranteed the sovereignty of any monarch who would adhere to Christian principles in the affairs of State. The Treaty made them a "true and indissoluble brotherhood". Alexander claimed he got the idea from a conversation with Castlereagh. Castlereagh later said that the Alliance was a "piece of sublime mysticism and nonsense". Prussia and Austria claimed they went along with it, out of fear of Russian retaliation. Although the Alliance had no influence on matters, it did indicate to other countries that they had banded together against them, and it succeeded in temporarily crushing Europe's growing liberal movement.

Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Prince Klemens Furst von Metternich, the most influential statesman in Europe, and a Rothschild agent, said that the purpose of his idea for a European Federation was only to preserve the social order, and he was convinced that Alexander was insane.

In actuality, the reason for the Congress of Vienna, was for the Illuminati to create a Federation, so they would have complete political control over most of the civilized world. Many of the European governments were in debt to the Rothschilds, so they figured they could use that as a bargaining tool. The Illuminati, in their first attempt, had come terrifyingly close to gaining control of the world. The head of the family, Nathan Rothschild, awaited the day that his family would get revenge by destroying the Czar and his family, which they did in 1917.

In 1916, the Senate Congressional Record (pg. 6781) reproduced a document known as the "Secret Treaty of Verona" which had been signed in November 22, 1822 by Austria (Metternich), France (Chateaubriand), Prussia (Bernstet), and Russia (Nesselrode); and was partially the reason for the establishment of the Monroe Doctrine. Its purpose was to make some changes to the treaty of the Holy Alliance, and Article One stated: "The high contracting powers, being convinced that the system of representative government is equally as incompatible with the monarchical principles as the maxim of the sovereignty of the people with the divine right, engage mutually, in the most solemn manner, to use all their efforts to put an end to the system of representative governments, in whatever country it may exist in Europe, and to prevent its being introduced where it is not yet known." Without a doubt, this document represented the intentions of the International bankers as they planned increasing domination over a growing world.

THE MASONS SEPARATE THEMSELVES FROM THE ILLUMINATI

In 1826, Captain William Morgan, a journalist and stonemason from Batavia, New York, who was a high degree mason in a local Masonic lodge, wrote an exposé of the Masonic Order in a book called Illustrations of Masonry, which revealed many of their secrets concerning the first three degrees. Shortly afterward, he was arrested and charged with stealing and indebtedness, and put in jail. The Illuminati tried him in absentia, convicted him of treason, and ordered five men, led by Richard Howard, an English Illuminist, to execute him. When he was released from jail, he was warned about the plot, and he attempted to flee to Canada. Howard caught him at the border, and took him to Fort Niagara, where he was held for a couple of days. The Freemasons that accompanied Howard, carried him off in a boat, and drowned him in the Niagara River.

This event was verified by the sworn statement of Avery Allen (said to be on file at the New York City Archives), who heard Howard give a report of the incident at a meeting of the Knights Templar at St. John's Hall in New York City. One of the three men who carried out the assassination, confessed on his deathbed in 1848.

Masonic leaders refused to cooperate with the lengthy investigation, which didn't get anywhere, since many of the police officers were Masons. The general consensus was that Morgan accidentally drowned himself in Lake Ontario. However, the press, religious leaders, temperance and anti-slavery groups, united to condemn the apparent murder. The murder caused over half of the Masons in the northeastern United States to break off their alignment with the Illuminati. The incident led to the creation of the country's first third party movement, the Anti-Masonic Party (1826-33) in New York. They wanted to stop the aristocratic conspiracy, and prevent all members of Masonic organizations from public service. Anti-Masonic candidates were elected to the New York Assembly in 1827.

A State Convention in Massachusetts in 1828 saw the establishment of a committee "to inquire how far Freemasonry and French Illuminism are connected". The Committee reported at a meeting at Faneuil Hall in Boston (December 30, 31, and January 1, 1829), and passed the following resolution: "Resolved, on the report of the Committee appointed to inquire how far Freemasonry and French Illuminism are connected, that there is evidence of an intimate connection between the high orders of Masonry and French Illuminism."

A National Convention was held in 1830 in Philadelphia, and another in Baltimore in 1831, where they nominated William Wirt, former U.S. Attorney General (under Monroe and John Quincy Adams, 1817-1829), as a Presidential candidate. They were represented by 116 Anti-Masonic delegates from 13 states. The movement caught on mainly in New England and the Mid-Atlantic states. Even though they won quite a few Congressional seats in 1832, Wirt only carried the State of Vermont, while Andrew Jackson, a Mason, won big.

The Party was phased out in 1836, because the anti-slavery movement began to overshadow their activities. They merged with the Whig Party (1834-60) in 1838. The Whig Party later assimilated themselves into the Democratic Party, the Liberty Party (1840-48), the Free Soil Party (1848-54), and the Republican Party.

Fifty years after Morgan's disappearance, Thurlow Weed (1797-1882), owner of the Rochester Telegraph, and Editor of the influential Albany Evening Journal (from 1830-1863), who helped found the Anti-Masonic Party, published information about Morgan's death. His grave was discovered in 1881 at Pembroke, in Batavia County, in New York. In the grave was a piece of paper that had the name John Brown written on it. Brown was said to be one of the people involved in the killing. A statue was erected in memory of Morgan in Batavia in 1882.

THE ILLUMINATI IN THE UNITED STATES

In 1829, the Illuminati held a secret meeting in New York, which was addressed by a British Illuminist named Frances 'Fanny' Wright, from Scotland, who was an associate of socialist Robert Dale Owen. She had come to America in 1818, then again in 1824. In 1828, she became the co-editor of the New Harmony Gazette with Owen. In 1829, they moved to New York, and called their publication the Free Enquirer. At the meeting, she spoke of equal rights, atheism, and free love, as she promoted a Women's Auxiliary of the Illuminati. Those present were told that an international movement of subversives was being developed along the lines of Illuminati principles, who would be used to ferment future wars. They were to be known as 'communists'. This movement was to be used to make the idea of a one-world government more appealing by bringing chaos to the world through war and revolution, so the Illuminati could step in to create order.

In 1843, poet Heinrich Heine, revealed what he knew about this new group, when he wrote a book called Letece, which was a compilation of articles he wrote for the Augsburg Gazette from 1840-1843. A passage from that book read: "Communism is the secret name of this tremendous adversary which the rule of the proletariat, with all that implies, opposes to the existing bourgeois regime . . . Communism is nonetheless the dark hero, cast for an enormous if fleeting role in the modern tragedy, and awaiting its cue to enter the stage."

Clinton Roosevelt, Horace Greeley (1811-72, Editor of the New York Tribune which he founded in 1841), and Charles Dana (1819-97, City Editor on the New York Tribune, and later Editor of the New York Sun), prominent newspaper publishers at that time, were appointed to a committee to raise funds for the project, which was being financed by the Rothschilds. Incidentally, Greeley, because of his ambition for high public office, and his anti-slavery stand, helped organize the Republican Party in 1854. In 1872, he ran for the Presidency, against Ulysses S. Grant, on the Liberal Republican ticket. Grant defeated him 3,597,132 votes to 2,834,125.

In 1841, Clinton Roosevelt wrote a book called The Science of Government Founded on Natural Law, which was the blueprint of the conspiracy to eliminate the U.S. Constitution, and to communize the country, based on the principles of Weishaupt. It contained the detailed plan for the New Deal and the National Recovery Act that was implemented 92 years later by his direct descendant Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Illuminati operated through a front organization known as the Locofoco Party (1835-45), which was organized by radical Jacksonian Democrats who were strongly influenced by the Working Man's Party (1828-30), and had labor support. The Working Man's Party merged into the Equal Rights Party in 1833, which later developed into the Socialist Party in 1901. The Locofocos got their name when they voted down the endorsed candidate for the Democratic Party Chairman, and the gas lights were turned off by Party regulars during the 1835 meeting in Tammany Hall. The matches they used to light candles, in order to continue the meeting, were called 'locofocos'.

With their political strength concentrated mainly in the Northeast, their goals were to establish an independent treasury and to enact anti-monopoly legislation. They were absorbed into the States' rights movement of Sen. John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, Sen. Henry Clay of Kentucky, and Sen. Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, who joined with the Jeffersonian Republicans and the Anti-Masonic Party to form the Whig Party, which represented farmers, southern plantation owners, and northeastern business interests. Their main complaint was President Andrew Jackson's refusal to Charter the Second Bank of the United States. They succeeded in electing Gen. William Henry Harrison and Gen. Zachary Taylor to the Presidency, but were stymied by presidential vetoes when they tried to get their legislative projects passed, especially after the re-establishment of the National Bank. The Whigs later merged with the newly formed Republican Party.

THE ILLUMINATI LEADERSHIP CHANGES

After Weishaupt died on November 18, 1830, at the age of 82, Giuseppe Mazzini (1805-72), an Italian patriot, and revolutionary leader, was appointed head of the Illuminati in 1834. It was believed that Weishaupt rejoined the Catholic Church with a deathbed repentance.

While attending Genoa University, Mazzini became a 33rd degree Mason, and joined a secret organization known as the Carbonari (their stated goal in 1818: "Our final aim is that of Voltaire and of the French Revolution—the complete annihilation of Catholicism, and ultimately all Christianity"), where he became committed to the cause of Italian unity. In 1831, he was exiled to France, where he founded the 'Young Societies' movement, which included Giovane Italia (Young Italy), Young England, etc. This group united those who wanted to achieve unification through force. Mazzini moved to England in 1837, then returned to Italy in 1848 to lead the revolution against the Austrians. Again he was exiled. In the 1850's, he led more revolutionary activities, and through his actions, Italy became united in 1861, as a single kingdom, rather than the republic envisioned by Mazzini.

Mazzini, who became known as the 'Evil Genius of Italy', tried to carry on the activities of the Illuminati through the Alta Vendita Lodge, the highest lodge of the Carbonari.

From 1814-48, the group known as the Haute Vente Romaine led the activities of most of Europe's secret societies. In April, 1836, the head of the Haute Vente, whose pseudonym was 'Nubius,' wrote to 'Beppo': "Mazzini behaves too much like a conspirator of melodrama to suit the obscure role we resign ourselves to play until our triumph. Mazzini likes to talk about a great many things, about himself above all. He never ceases writing that he is overthrowing thrones and altars, that he fertilizes the peoples, that he is the prophet of humanitarianism . . .".

In 1860, Mazzini had formed an organization called the 'Oblonica,' a name derived from the Latin 'obelus,' which means: "I beckon with a spit (dagger)." Within this group, he established an inner circle called the Mafia.

About 1,000 AD, after the Normans had driven the

It was this band of criminals that Mazzini gave the name 'Mafia', which was an acronym for Mazzini, Autorizza, Furti, Incendi and Avvelengenti. Known as the Mafiosi, they were authorized by Mazzini to commit thefts, arson and murder. It was this organization that came to America during the 1890s with the beginning of Italian immigration.

Arabs out of Sicily, they established a feudal system. Overseers to guard each feudi were chosen from known criminals. Skirmishes between the Barons were fought by these criminals. Although feudal privileges were abolished in 1812, these overseers retained control of the land through leasing arrangements. In 1859, Albert Pike (1809-1891), a lawyer, and leader of the U.S. Scottish Rite Masonry (who was called the 'Sovereign Pontiff of Universal Freemasonry,' the 'Prophet of Freemasonry' and the 'greatest Freemason of the nineteenth century'), who was fascinated with the idea of a one-world government, was chosen to coordinate Illuminati activities in the United States. He said they needed to create a political party that would keep the world fighting, until they could bring peace. Pike said it would be done "with tongue and pen, with all our open and secret influences, with the purse, and if need be, with the sword . . .".

Pike was born on December 29, 1809, in Boston, went to Harvard, then later served as a Brigadier-General in the Confederate Army. He was appointed by the Confederacy to be the Indian Commissioner in order to create an army of Indian warriors. He became Governor of the Indian territory, and succeeded in creating an army consisting of Chickasaws, Comanches, Creeks, Cherokees, Miamis, Osages, Kansas, and Choctaws. He became known to them as the "faithful pale-face friend and protector". The savagery of their attacks caused Jefferson Davis, the President of the Confederacy, to disband the Indian army. After the Civil War, Pike was found guilty of treason and jailed, only to be pardoned by President Andrew Johnson on April 22, 1866, who met with him the next day at the White House. On June 20, 1867, Scottish Rite officials conferred upon Johnson, the 4th - 32nd degrees, and he later went to Boston to dedicate a Masonic Temple. The only monument to a Confederate general in Washington, D.C. was erected in Pike's honor, and can be found between the Department of Labor building and the Municipal Building, between 3rd and 4th Streets, on D Street, NW.

Pike was a genius, able to read and write in 16 different languages. A 33rd degree Mason, he was one of the founding fathers, and head of the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry. In 1869, he was a top leader in the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. In 1871, he wrote the 861 page Masonic handbook known as the Morals and Dogma of the Ancient and Accepted Rite of Freemasonry.

Pike was said to be a Satanist, who indulged in the occult, and possessed a bracelet he used to summon Lucifer, with whom he had constant communication. He was the Grand Master of a Luciferian group known as the Order of the Palladium (or Sovereign Council of Wisdom), which had been founded in Paris in 1737. Palladism had been brought to Greece from Egypt by Pythagoras in the fifth century, and it was this cult of Satan that was introduced to the inner circle of the Masonic lodges. It was aligned with the Palladium of the Templars. In 1801, Issac Long, a Jew, brought a statue of Baphomet (Satan) to Charleston, South Carolina, where he helped established the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. Pike, his successor, changed the name to the New and Reformed Palladian Rite (or Reformed Palladium). The Order contained two degrees: 1) Adelph (or Brother), and 2) Companion of Ulysses (or Companion of Penelope). Pike's right-hand man was Phileas Walder, from Switzerland, who was a former Lutheran minister, a Masonic leader, occultist, and spiritualist. His other closest aids were Gallatin Mackey (a Masonic leader), Longfellow, and Holbrook. Pike, along with Mazzini, Lord Henry Palmerston of England (1784-1865, 33rd degree Mason), and Otto von Bismarck from Germany (33rd Mason, 1815-1898), intended to use the Palladian Rite to create a Satanic umbrella group that would tie all Masonic groups together.

Because of Mazzini's revolutionary activities in Europe, the Illuminati had to again go underground. Pike established Supreme Councils in Charleston, South Carolina; Rome, Italy (led by Mazzini); London, England (led by Palmerston); and Berlin, Germany (led by Bismarck). He set up 23 subordinate councils in strategic places throughout the world, including five Grand Central Directories in Washington, DC (North America), Montevideo (South America), Naples (Europe), Calcutta (Asia), and Mauritius (Africa), which were used to gather information. All of these branches have been the secret headquarters for the Illuminati's activities ever since.

In a letter dated January 22, 1870, Mazzini wrote to Pike:

"We must allow all of the federations to continue just as they are, with their systems, their central authorities and diverse modes of correspondence between high grades of the same rite, organized as they are at present, but we must create a super rite, which will remain unknown, to which we will call those Masons of high degree whom we shall select (obviously referring to the New and Reformed Palladian Rite). With regard to our brothers in Masonry, these men must be pledged to the strictest secrecy. Through this supreme rite, we will govern all Freemasonry which will become the one International Center, the more powerful because its direction will be unknown."

In another letter, dated August 15, 1871, Pike wrote to Mazzini:

"We shall unleash the Nihilists and the atheists, and we shall provoke a formidable social cataclysm which in all its horror will show clearly to the nations the effect of absolute atheism, the origin of savagery, and of the most bloody turmoil. Then everywhere, the citizens, obliged to defend themselves against the world minority of revolutionaries, will exterminate those destroyers of civilization, and the multitude, disillusioned with Christianity, whose deistic spirits will from that moment be without compass, anxious for an ideal, but without knowing where to render its adoration, will receive the pure light through the universal manifestation which will result from the general reactionary movement which will follow the destruction of Christianity and atheism, both conquered and exterminated at the same time."

Another part of this letter was discovered in 1949, which graphically outlined plans for three world wars and at least two revolutions. The first world war was to enable communistic atheism to destroy the czarist government in Russia. This was accomplished. The second world war was to begin by pitting Great Britain against Germany, in order to destroy Naziism, and advance the cause of Zionism, so that Israel could become a nation. This was accomplished. After this war, Communism was to be made strong enough to begin taking over weaker governments. In 1945, at the Potsdam Conference between Truman, Churchill, and Stalin, Russia was given a chunk of Europe, and that helped to sweep the tide of Communism into China. The plan also called for a third world war, which is to be ignited by firing up the aggression between the Zionists (Israel) and the Arab world, who will destroy each other, bringing the rest of the world into a final conflict. This conflict will be engineered to produce complete social, political, and economic chaos; out of which will emerge an Illuminati-controlled world government.

According to William Guy Carr, a retired Canadian Naval Commander, in his book Pawns in the Game (he also wrote Red Fog Over America), he said that for a short time this letter had been on display in the British Museum Library in London, where he wrote a copy of it. The British Museum has said that they never had such a letter in their collection. It was later discovered that Carr got the information from a book called The Mystery of Freemasonry Unveiled by Jose Maria Caro y Rodriguez, the Archbishop of Santiago, and the Cardinal of Chile. Some researchers believe the second letter to be fraudulent, and had been written much later than the first part, since the word 'Fascism' was not used until 1921, and the Arab/Jewish problem did not exist until after the 1917 Balfour Declaration. But then again, if they indeed planned and initiated these events, the document could very well be authentic.

After Mazzini's death on March 11, 1872, Pike appointed Adriano Lemmi (1822-1896, 33rd degree Mason), a banker from Florence, Italy, to run their subversive activities in Europe. Lemmi was a supporter of patriot and revolutionary Giuseppe Garibaldi, and may have been active in the Luciferian Society founded by Pike.

On July 14, 1889, Pike issued this statement to the 24 Supreme Councils of the world who were meeting in Paris:

"That which we must say to the crowd is: 'We worship a God, but it is the God one adores without superstition.'
"To you, Sovereign Grand Inspectors General (33rd Degree Masons), we say this, that you may repeat it to the Brethren of the 32nd, 31st, and 30th degrees: 'The Masonic religion should be, by all of us initiates of the high degrees, maintained in the purity of the Luciferian doctrine.'

"If Lucifer were not God, would Adonay (or 'Adonai', Hebrew for the word 'Lord' which refers to Jehovah, the God of Israel, which they avoided using) whose deeds prove his cruelty, perfidy, and hatred of man, barbarism and repulsion for science, would Adonay and his priests calumniate him? Yes, Lucifer is God, and unfortunately Adonay is also God. For the eternal law is that there is no light without shade, no beauty without ugliness, no white without black, for the absolute can only exist as two Gods: darkness being necessary to light to serve as its foil as the pedestal is necessary to the statue, and the brake to the locomotive . . .

. . . "Thus, the doctrine of Satanism is a heresy; and the true and pure philosophic religion is the belief in Lucifer, the equal of Adonay; but Lucifer, God of Light and God of Good, is struggling for humanity against Adonay, the God of darkness and evil."

The New Totalitarianism

We thank Dr. Norman D. Livergood for permission to reprint the following essay, which lays bare the true motives behind the War of Terror. In his words: "The sweet words of the appointed Thief of State belie a hidden agenda of world domination, while at home he has laid the cornerstone for a 21st century dictatorship. It is not too late to unite and save ourselves."

[QUOTING, emphasis added:]

RULE THROUGH BARBARIC ANNIHILATION

By Dr. N. Livergood, <hermes-press.com>, July 2006

The depraved international cabal that has a stranglehold on American political and financial power constitutes a new type of totalitarianism, pillaging the world through barbaric annihilation and creating a World Police State.

American and world citizens have not fully awakened to the monstrous, diabolical nature of this totalitarian regime; they assume it must have some modicum of concern for its people, its nation, and human decency. Wrong!

Unless we arouse ourselves from this deadly self-imposed stupor of ignorance, these homicidal maniacs will destroy us and the world.

Totalitarianism: Absolutistic dominion through imposing the force of one power over others through armed violence; fascistic dictatorship.

Absolutistic dominion through imposing the force of one power over others through armed violence; fascistic dictatorship.

A regime based on subordination of the individual to the state and strict control of all coercive measures such as censorship and state terrorism (think Patriot Act).

The political concept that the citizen should be totally subject to an absolute state authority.

Barbaric: Characteristic of a cultural level more complex than primitive savagery but less advanced than civilization; marked by cruelty and lack of restraint; offending against contemporary standards of good taste or acceptability; backward.

Previously, imperialism had been the underlying policy of the cabal when it seized Puerto Rico, Hawaii, Cuba, Philippines, and the Mariana Islands and set up the German empires that led to World War I and World War II.

But British and American imperialism involved a certain amount of concern for the possessed territory and the people, if no more than pride in having control over the holdings of the empire. The new totalitarianism has absolutely no such concern; its only interest is imposing the diabolic policy of barbaric annihilation on the world, thereby reaping huge profits from its energy, financial, and "defense" industries and turning all countries into militarized police states whose peoples will be forced to become their "cannon fodder".

"Although war is 'used' as an instrument of national and social policy, the fact that a society is organized for any degree of readiness for war supersedes its political and economic structure. War itself is the basic social system, within which other secondary modes of social organization conflict or conspire. It is the system which has governed most human societies of record, as it is today."—Leonard Lewin, Report From Iron Mountain on the Possibility and Desirability of Peace, 1967.

People throughout the world must become aware that this new totalitarianism is completely unlike any previous geopolitical power structure. Its very essence is annihilation; it possesses no redeeming or mitigating feature. To allow yourself to think of these people as foolish, incompetent, irrational, or wrong-headed is as mistaken and misinformed as thinking that Hitler was merely a well-meaning but mistaken fearless leader of his

A coup backed by the petroleum and arms industries has placed in power an administration which cares nothing for America's traditional ideals and sacred honor.

The sweet words of the appointed Thief of State belie a hidden agenda of world domination, while at home he has laid the cornerstone for a 21st century dictatorship.

It is not yet too late to unite and save ourselves!

Uninformed people will say: "The Bush administration surely doesn't want to let the United States go to ruin, they have too much at stake. They must realize they're not winning in Iraq."

They don't care a straw for what happens to American workers or the U.S. infrastructure; they gain power and wealth through annihilation—we must get that fixed in our minds! The more America becomes a drug-ridden war zone with a blasted economy, the more young people are forced to become "cannon fodder" for the cabal wars; they have no other jobs to go to. The cabal is not losing the war in Iraq, it's winning!

The cabal junta's invasion of Iraq involved much more than most people are aware of. Among the more obvious purposes were:

- The theft of Iraqi oil through privatization (piratization)
- The funneling of oil and no-bid contracts into Halliburton's maw
- The installation of multiple U.S military bases in the region

•The installation of a cabal puppet in control of Iraq (as in Afghanistan)

Some of the hidden reasons the demonic cabal invaded and occupied Iraq are:

•To reconfigure the Middle East geopolitically (think invasion of Lebanon [July 2006], Iran and Syria)

•To gain strategic control over Iraq's—and the surrounding territory's—hydrocarbon reserves to establish a cabal-based energy market to replace OPEC

•To maintain the U.S. dollar as the monopoly currency for the critical international oil market

•To dominate all nations of the world through the threat of military invasion and "regime change"

"Those who can make you believe absurdities can make you commit atrocities."—Voltaire

Taking Them At Their Word

Throughout much of the twentieth century, the cabal amassed wealth through the ownership and control of a variety of industries—as, for example, computers, automobiles, and transportation—even though their primary profits derived from the energy, financial, and "defense" sectors. Following the cabal's assassination of President John F. Kennedy, their primary strategy turned from relative lawfulness to outright criminality. They have now publicly declared that their mode of operation will be the seizure of power and profits through the amassing of military might beyond challenge from other nations or the rule of law. Spokesmen for the criminal cabal have been blatantly outspoken about their primary goals; it's just that American and world citizens have found it difficult to believe that a group of people could be so ruthless, unjust, and cruel—so sub-human. It's time we took them at their word:

"We are an awesome revolutionary force. Creative destruction is our middle name. We tear down the old order every day . . . Seeing America undo old conventions, they [NL: our enemies] fear us, for they do not wish to be undone . . . We wage total war because we fight in the name of an idea . . . Stability is for those older, burnt-out countries, not for the American dynamo."—Michael A. Ledeen, Freedom Chair holder at the American Enterprise Institute

"America has, and intends to keep, military strengths beyond challenge—thereby making the destabilizing arms races of other eras pointless . . ."—Bush II, West Point, June 2, 2002

"The maximum amount of force can and should be used as quickly as possible for psychological impact—to demonstrate that the empire cannot be challenged with impunity . . . [W]e are in the business of bringing down hostile governments and creating governments favorable to us."—Harvard Professor Stephen P. Rosen

"There is only one step from fanaticism to barbarism."—Denis Diderot, 18th century Enlightenment leader

The cabal has made it clear that it will maintain an overpowering military force to deter any future military or economic challenge and discourage rival coalitions of any type. Whereas previous cabal strategy involved vulture capitalism, the new totalitarianism—suffering an ever-weakening economy—now uses its military super-power status to extort, intimidate, and destroy its economic rivals.

Tod Lindberg, a columnist for the Reverend Moon's Washington Times, elaborated upon Bush's West Point policy announcement: "What Mr. Bush is saying here is that the United States will never allow a 'peer competitor' to arise. We will never again be in a position of 'superpower rivalry', let alone a cog in a multilateral balance of power.”

The cabal strategy of pre-emptive strikes against any nation or group it brands as terrorist, imposing “regime change” on the recalcitrant country, and setting up military bases and puppet-regimes, has been clearly outlined by cabal toadies. The right-wing British historian Paul Johnson kicked off the justification for the new totalitarianism with a 2001 article in the Wall Street Journal entitled “The Answer to Terrorism? Colonialism.”

“America and her allies may find themselves . . . not just occupying with troops but administering obdurate terrorist states. These may eventually include not only Afghanistan but Iraq, Sudan, Libya, Iran and Syria. Democratic regimes willing to abide by international law will be implanted where possible, but a Western political presence seems unavoidable in some cases.”

UNENDING WAR FOR UNENDING PEACE

We find it difficult to believe that a regime—such as that which controls the United States—could adopt barbaric annihilation through unending war as its primary operating principle. Yet, if we examine the history of the last century with a critical eye, we discover that to be the case.

The improvement of the lot of the working class under the Franklin D. Roosevelt, Dwight Eisenhower, and John Kennedy administrations must be seen as bright exceptions to the prevailing ideology and practice of exploiting and “grinding” workers through vulture capitalism.

Once we recognize that the current ruling elite has no interest whatsoever in anything other than amassing wealth and power, we must ask: What is it about this strategy of ceaseless war that fulfills so well the goals of this totalitarian cabal ?

Modern industrial societies, such as America, Britain, Japan, Russia, China, and the European nations, develop the capacity to produce more than is required for their economic survival. A ruling faction that has no interest in improving the lot of the working class must find the most profitable and efficient way to “use up” this surplus production of goods, services, and people. Perpetual armed conflict provides the criminal rulers with a “balance wheel,” a most effective technique of destroying the surplus. Only through this constant production-and-destruction cycle can the rulers maintain their industrial empires.

In previous decades, weaponry was amassed by the cabal for the purpose of not being used—merely to have on hand in case of emergency and to threaten the cabal’s enemies in the ongoing “arms race.” That former policy has now been scrapped; the new totalitarianism’s primary strategy is unending annihilation through unending war.

The new totalitarianism doesn’t maintain even the pretense of democratic rule; it’s established an unabashed dictatorship (think domestic spying, warrantless arrests, and seizure of all three branches of the federal government). Without ongoing warfare, a totalitarian regime is unable to obtain acquiescence in its “legitimacy” or right to rule the society. The possibility and actuality of war provide the sense of external necessity which dictatorships require to remain in power. Thus the Reichstag syndrome: the deliberate orchestration of attacks against the nation by the ruling faction which are “spun” into external aggression by a foreign power: the 1933 Reichstag fire, 9/11, the Spanish and British railway bombs, and stay tuned for another cabal-orchestrated “terrorist attack” in a theater of operation near you.

A totalitarian autocracy finds war to be a very effective ideological clarifier. People are either for the junta or against it. During armed conflict, there are, to put it simply, only two sides to a question because there cannot be more than two sides to a war. You are either “for” the brave soldiers fighting in Iraq (or Iran, or ?) or you are “for” the evil terrorists.

The wars of totalitarian regimes are, therefore, not “caused” by international conflicts of interest. A war-making dictatorship requires—and thus brings about—such conflicts. With the only goals the amassing of wealth and power by the ruling elite, the capacity of a nation to make war expresses the greatest social power it can exercise.

As this essay is being written (July 2006), Israel, the fourth most powerful military power in the world, has found an excuse to put into operation its long-standing, carefully constructed plan to invade Lebanon and escalate the Middle-Eastern “conflict” into threats against Iran and Syria. This attack by Israel—sanctioned by the American cabal—isn’t about Lebanon, Gaza, Hamas, or Hezbollah. It’s about Iran and Syria, the only countries in the region capable and determined to challenge Israel and the U.S. As

The Times* (London) reported on 5/11/02, Israeli leader Sharon called for the U.S. to attack Iran the moment the invasion of Iraq was complete.

Israeli intelligence is pointing the finger at Iran and Syria for supplying weapons and funds to Lebanon and the Palestinians; as if the Bush junta isn’t doing this for Israel in a far more massive way. Tune into your favorite cabal-owned and controlled TV or radio “news” program this evening and you’ll find an American representative of the Israeli lobby working overtime to target Iran and Syria.

The totalitarian regime’s War against Iran and Syria has been underway for several years, with covert military and financial actions against both countries an ongoing operation on the part of both America and Israel. America now has at least fourteen military bases in Iraq to boost its ability to carry out military strikes against Iran’s nuclear sites from Iraq. But those bases also expose the American forces to a possible Iranian retaliation. Israeli military and intelligence forces have been operating out of Iraq—with incursions into northern Iran—for several years.

The most recent “excuse” for cabal escalation of violence in the Middle East began with the Hamas rise to power in Palestine and Hezbollah gaining seats in the administrative council of Lebanon. Israel and the United States immediately announced that they would, sooner or later, punish the people of Palestine and Lebanon for voting the wrong way in free elections.

Hezbollah is the de facto government in southern Lebanon as well as part of the coalition government in Beirut. Now that the Israelis have found the excuse in the capture of Corporal Gilad Shalit by Palestinian forces—while for the past decade they have captured and killed hundreds of Palestinians—the punishment will be severe indeed.

The actual “cause” of the July, 2006 incursion of Israeli forces into Lebanon was the June 24 Israeli abduction of two Gaza civilians, a doctor and his brother. They were taken to Israel, presumably; nobody knows their fate. On June 25, “militants” in Gaza, probably Islamic Jihad, abducted an Israeli soldier across the border. The abduction of Corporal Shalit is the only thing American TV “commentators” will talk about; Israel’s original abduction is not even mentioned. Israel used the abduction of Shalit as the excuse for the escalation of Israeli attacks on Gaza.

The Israeli abduction of the two Gaza civilians is actually part of Acting Prime Minister Ehud Olmert’s West Bank annexation operation—what’s been “spun” as “convergence” and described in the U.S. as a “withdrawal”. In fact it’s a continuation of the ongoing Israeli annexation of the valuable lands and resources—including water—of the West Bank and the Jordan Valley and the decades-long, non-ending Israeli attacks on civilian and military groups among the Lebanese and the Palestinians.

“The way to break this cycle is for all actors to negotiate a political solution that responds to their legitimate grievances and demands. Everyone involved seems prepared to do this, except for Israel and the U.S., who rely on military force, prolonged occupations, and diplomatic sanctions and threats. What will Israel and the U.S. do when there are no more Arab airports, bridges and power stations to destroy? The futility of such policies should be clear by now, and therefore a diplomatic solution should be sought seriously for the first time.”

The Totalitarian “Force Projection”

The demonic cabal’s new brand of totalitarianism does not need foreign colonies the way the Romans did; its only requirement is control of resources, territories, and peoples through the placing of strategic military bases throughout the world, allowing it to deploy forces almost anywhere on the planet at lightning speed. In line with their overall policy of barbaric annihilation, it invades a country and sets about to destroy its government, its infrastructure, and its people.

The cabal has done this in El Salvador, Panama, Haiti, Afghanistan, and Iraq. If you want to understand what kind of world the cabal has in store for us, you have only to look at Afghanistan. This country has essentially been decimated, reduced to a barbaric anarchy of war-lords, drug-running Taliban gangs, roving bands of pillaging marauders, and a blasted economy. Meanwhile the military installations are used to guard the region’s gas and oil wells and pipelines while an American puppet sits in Kabul. If you look carefully, you can see that this same pattern of planned chaos is rapidly overtaking America.

This insane scorched earth cabal strategy even has an official name: the “Salvador Option.” This secret strategy was initiated under Jimmy Carter and subsequently used during the Reagan administration’s fight against the leftist guerrilla insurgency in El Salvador in the early 1980s, supporting “nationalist” gangs that also included death squads, with money, equipment and military training. In 2006 Newsweek published an article about this barbaric policy, which the military admitted it was “considering.”

“According to military insiders familiar with the discussions inside the Pentagon, using the ‘The Salvador Option’ in Iraq involved sending Special Forces teams to train Iraqi squads, most likely Kurdish Peshmerga fighters and Shia armed groups to attack Iraqi Sunnis inside the country and at its border with Syria.

“But it hadn’t been agreed whether this would be a policy of assassination or so-called ‘snatch’ operations, where targets are sent to secret facilities for interrogation, officials told Newsweek, whose article was circulated among various media outlets and strongly rejected by Secretary of Defence Donald Rumsfeld.

“They also stated that during the talks, officials recommended that while U.S. Special Forces would lead operations in Syria, activities inside Iraq itself would be carried out by Iraqi militias.

“In a January 10 [2006] interview, retired General Wayne Downing, former head of all U.S. special operations forces, stated that U.S.-backed death squads had been plotting and did actually carry out attacks against leaders of the so-called insurgency since March 2003.

“But in the mainstream press, Donald Rumsfeld, and General Downing all refused to admit that the Salvador Option was underway in Iraq.” Notice that the red militarized zones now completely surround Iran.

The “Salvador Option” policy of annihilation was used in Iraq from the time the cabal invaded it. Naive people the world over wonder how the Bush junta could have allowed itself to have failed so miserably in Iraq. Relative to its goals, the cabal has not failed in Iraq at all. It has destroyed the infrastructure, the government, and the people, while establishing at least fourteen military bases with which it guards the privatized Iraqi energy resources and provides a “force projection” to threaten and intimidate the surrounding nations, especially Iran and Syria and even including Saudi Arabia. The cabal policy of deliberately encouraging civil war between Sunni, Shia, and Kurd factions has been successful in bring[ing] full destruction to Iraq.

As Harvard Professor Stephen P. Rosen explains: “We are in the business of bringing down hostile governments and creating governments favorable to us. Conventional international wars end and troops are brought back home. Imperial wars end, but imperial garrisons must be left in place for decades to ensure order and stability. This is, in fact, what we are beginning to see, first in the Balkans and now in Central Asia. In addition to advanced-technology weaponry, an imperial position requires a large but lightly armed ground force for garrison purposes and as reassurance for allies who want American forces on their soil as symbols of our commitment to their defense.”

The new totalitarian regime has taken a page from the Roman handbook: to rule the world it’s not enough to have overpowering military might—the rest of the world must be fully aware of that might and fear it.

Totalitarianism requires propaganda such as 24-hour news coverage of Israeli attacks on Lebanon. Other nations get the message: the demonic cabal’s military superiority will annihilate anyone or anything that gets in its way.

Freedom Through Knowing the Truth

The reason we must focus on the noxious, execrable nature of this new totalitarianism is to protect ourselves from being taken in by the false world it is creating. We’re in a battle not merely for whether this or that particular puppet regime of the demonic cabal starts this pre-emptive war or that, but whether or not our very being will be subverted by their lies and false values. A depraved society—such as we now face—can destroy a person’s soul, because the disorder of society is a disease in the psyche of its members. We must guard our souls against the degradations of the surrounding society which presses on us. It’s necessary for us to diagnose the health and disease in our individual souls and at the same time examine disorder in the deranged new totalitarianism.

In 2003, UK Defence Minister Geoff Hoon declared in Parliament that the Iraqi mothers of innocent children killed by American-British cluster-bombs would one day be “grateful” for sacrificing the fruit of their wombs to the invaders.

Our resistance to a barbaric world depends for its success on a precise comprehension of those against whom we struggle. One of the requirements for discerning the true essence of our antagonists is to describe their beliefs and actions in a straightforward manner. We must, in other words, identify the demonic cabal’s new operating principle by its true designation: the new totalitarianism of barbaric annihilation—not mindlessly dismissing it as an incompetent but well-intentioned regime. Our search for understanding and truth arises out of the resistance of our souls to their destruction by a perverted world. The situation we now face is the life-or-death of our very being.

“To be deceived or uninformed in the soul about true being means that ‘the lie itself’ has taken possession of ‘the highest part of himself’ and steeped it into ‘ignorance of the soul.’”—Plato, Gorgias (382a-b)

Not working to discover the truth and not forming reasoned opinions about what’s happening in the world is a way of being complicit in the new totalitarianism.

We must be engaged in social-political analysis—as well as activities of struggle and dissent—because the order or disorder of a society shapes its citizens’ minds and souls. All persons who want to safeguard themselves must search assiduously for the truth: what’s really happening in the world.

People worldwide must resist the mind-manipulation of a Karl Rove or any of the other members of the demonic cabal. By making the effort to inform himself, a person anywhere in the world can thwart the attempt by the world of untruth to corrupt his mind and soul. Any genuine struggle against the new totalitarianism must expose and fight against the world of untruth created by the criminal cabal. If you read something by a so-called contemporary thinker that isn’t battling against the new form of totalitarianism, then you know that he or she is not a genuine participant in the battle for truth.

“A man, or a society, is civilized if truth, beauty, adventure, art, peace are the dominant qualities, and if these five qualities are exhibited in all phases of experience.”—A. H. Johnson, Whitehead’s Philosophy of Civilization

One of the major onslaughts by the cabal against the minds of citizens worldwide is their scam of “moral rearmament of totalitarianism”. This swindle began with the first Gulf War, when the “coalition forces” were cast in the light of “champion” of the Kurds, who had pleaded for Western intervention against the satanic Saddam Hussein. For cabal fellow-travelers, the Gulf War vindicated the West. Forget about Suez, Algeria or Vietnam; totalitarian invasion had been legitimate all along. Bush I included mention of Korea and Vietnam in his 1992 State of the Union address, pretending that even the defeat of Vietnam could be reconverted into a triumph through the moral regeneration of totalitarianism.

Part of the cabal pretence in this scheme of barbaric annihilation is “Democracy by force,” trying to make the world believe the lie that it is maintaining democratic principles in America and exporting this way of life to other nations. When thinking people the world over examine carefully what’s happening, they see the cabal’s client states—Britain, Israel, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, India, Egypt—as nothing more than dictatorships controlled by the cabal—with not a scintilla of true democracy in the lot.

Fortunately, even some leaders of other nations see through the cabal lies and subterfuge—such as the duly elected president of Venezuela, Hugo Chavez. In a 2006 visit to Britain, Chavez was asked by a BBC journalist whether he was behaving a bit like his arch-enemy George W. Bush by taking a “you’re with us or against us” attitude. President Chavez, aghast at such a question, replied, “It is the first time I have been offended this way in public—to be compared to the biggest perpetrator of genocide the world has known. To be compared to an assassin, someone who has committed genocide, an immoral man who should be put in jail by an international court. What exactly are these attitudes?”

“Have we invaded any country?” he asked to great applause from the people surrounding him. Chavez’s response electrified the audience.

Getting the Language—and the Understanding—Right

In struggling against this new form of totalitarianism, we must use the correct terms to keep things straight in our minds. It’s necessary to describe things accurately to understand them in the correct manner. For example, we can no longer use such phrases as “America attacked Iraq.” “America” didn’t attack Iraq, the demonic cabal that controls America carried out the invasion and decimation of Iraq. We must distinguish ourselves—Americans—from our noxious rulers—and encourage citizens worldwide to separate in their minds the criminal activities of the cabal from the American people.

“I have repeatedly said that the only time to use Social Security money is in times of war, times of recession, or times of severe emergency. And I mean that.”—President George W. Bush, September 6, 2001, five days before the terrorist assaults on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon.

We must see the cabal wars for what they are: destructive military “defense” spending as merely a contrived means for diverting tax money from social programs—hidden ways for rulers to amass power and wealth, and eliminate human populations.

When we call the cabal wars “wasteful,” we’re speaking from our perspective: we see the “waste” of human and technological resources. From the junta’s perspective wars aren’t “wasteful,” but “strategically effective” in destroying armaments that American tax dollars pay the “defense industry” corporations to manufacture, “strategically necessary” in ridding the American rulers of unnecessary people to support through Social Security and other “wasteful” social programs.

If we’re to understand what’s happening in the world, we must view events from the cabal’s perspective as well as ours. For example, decent American citizens see the failure of “reconstruction” in Iraq and New Orleans (following the Katrina disaster) as evidence of sheer “incompetence,” wondering how American leaders can allow such blatant ineptitude to occur. Dubya wasn’t facetious when he said to FEMA director Michael Brown he had done “a heck of a job” and awarded L. Paul Bremer the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

As head of the Coalition Provisional Authority in Iraq, Bremer had done a superb job of seeing that no-bid contracts went almost exclusively to Vice President Dick Cheney’s Halliburton corporation, plus allowing the outright theft of billions of dollars by selected fellow-criminals. (Forget about the fact that Iraq is still a stricken war zone with almost none of the infrastructure rebuilt.)

FEMA Chief Michael Brown had done a heck of a job for the cabal: he had made sure that a troublesome section of New Orleans was laid waste and poor white and black people were left homeless and without food or medical supplies for days. Brown’s successor did an even more outstanding job of seeing that most of the Katrina “reconstruction” no-bid contracts went to Halliburton and that millions in false claims went to help Bush win Florida votes.

We must recognize the hyperbolic insanity of the cabal’s policies and not disregard their actions by viewing them from only our perspective.

One final example puts a clincher to this. 9/11 has been seen by most of the world as perhaps the worst intelligence failure in U.S. history. So why did ex-CIA Director George “Slam-dunk” Tenet join Bremer in the line to receive the Presidential Medal of Freedom? My best guess would be because he was complicit in 9/11, that he saw that no one in the CIA blew the whistle to make it evident that Bush II was lying about weapons of mass destruction, and that the compromising and degrading of the CIA continued apace under his term of service as was initiated under Bush I and other CIA directors.

We must think out of the box if we’re to understand this new form of totalitarianism. We can put nothing past them; they are capable of the most inhuman and unthinkable acts of depravity. The best hypothesis we have to explain 9/11 is that the cabal was complicit in its planning and accomplishment.

As we look at Afghanistan, Iraq, and now the escalating violence aimed at Lebanon, Iran and Syria, we have to come up with a hypothesis that best explains all these variables. Deprived of the all-purpose cold-war Soviet threat since 1991, the cabal has searched for credible new candidates to play [t]he role of world villain. In a January, 1991 article in International Affairs titled “Christianity and Islam,” Edward Mortimer noted that in the neo-conservative camp “many even felt the need to discover a new threat to replace the Soviet one” and for this purpose Islam “lay ready to hand.” The totalitarian cabal appears to have decided that Islam possesses all the right ingredients to provide a pretext for invading, destroying, and “occupying” the Middle-East—and the world.

“In the councils of government, we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists and will persist. We must never let the weight of this combination endanger our liberties or democratic processes. We should take nothing for granted. Only an alert and knowledgeable citizenry can compel the proper meshing of the huge industrial and military machinery of defense with our peaceful methods and goals, so that security and liberty may prosper together. . . .”—President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Farewell Speech, 1961

WHY AND HOW WE MUST FIGHT

In struggling against this new form of barbaric totalitarianism, we first need to realize that what we face is not just a somewhat incompetent, defective government, but a demonic force against which we must engage in a life-or-death battle for survival.

Totalitarian regimes destroy their own people and their own nation in the same way they annihilate other nations and peoples.

Throughout this essay, you’ve been encouraged to link out to ancillary essays which demonstrate that the cabal that’s seized political and financial power in America has turned the nation into:

- A police state
- A militarist regime
- A regime seeking to dominate the world
- A tyranny attempting to control the world’s energy supplies
- A syndicate seeking to impose the American dollar as the world’s reserve currency
- A banana republic in which leaders are put into power through assassinations, coups d’etat, and fixed elections

•A fascist regime that is already setting up detention camps for those who dissent

We must not ignore or downplay the vital threat this totalitarian regime presents to us as individuals and as a nation. Other people have ignored just this kind of buildup of totalitarian power and have found themselves the victims of torture, imprisonment, and murder.

It should be clear to any thinking person that we must engage in this struggle against the new totalitarianism—to save ourselves and our nation from this “foreign” cabal animated by their demonic, alien ideology of barbaric annihilation.

These are actions we must carry out immediately: “And how we burned in the camps later, thinking: What would things have been like if every Security operative, when he went out at night to make an arrest, had been uncertain whether he would return alive and had to say good-bye to his family? Or if, during periods of mass arrests, as for example in Leningrad, when they arrested a quarter of the entire city, people had not simply sat there in their lairs, paling with terror at every bang of the down-stairs door and at every step on the staircase, but had understood they had nothing left to lose and had boldly set up in the downstairs hall an ambush of a half a dozen people with axes, hammers, pokers, or whatever else was at hand? After all, you knew ahead of time that those bluecaps were out at night for no good purpose. And you could be sure ahead of time that you’d be cracking the skull of a cutthroat. Or what about the Black Maria sitting out there on the street with one lonely chauffeur—what if it had been driven off of or its tires spiked? The Organs would very quickly have suffered a shortage of officers and transport and, notwithstanding all of Stalin’s thirst, the cursed machine would have ground to a halt.”

We must recognize the hyperbolic insanity of the cabal’s policies and not disregard their actions by viewing them from only our perspective.

“There was only one catch and that was Catch-22, which specified that a concern for one’s own safety in the face of dangers that were real and immediate was the process of a rational mind. Orr was crazy and could be grounded. All he had to do was ask; and as soon as he did, he would no longer be crazy and would have to fly more missions. Orr would be crazy to fly more missions and sane if he didn’t, but if he was sane he had to fly them. If he flew them he was crazy and didn’t have to; but if he didn’t want to he was sane and had to. Yossarian was moved very deeply by the absolute simplicity of this clause of Catch-22 and let out a respectful whistle.”—Joseph Heller, Catch-22, 1961

If . . . if . . . We didn’t love freedom enough. And even more—we had no awareness of the real situation. We spent ourselves in one unrestrained outburst in 1917, and then we hurried to submit. We submitted with pleasure! . . . We purely and simply deserved everything that happened afterward.”—Aleksandr I. Solzhenitsyn, The Gulag Archipelago, 1973

NATIONALIST MILITARY AND INTELLIGENCE SERVICES DEALING WITH OUR ZIONIST OCCUPIED GOVERNMENT

Representative Peter Hoekstra, chairman of the House Intelligence Committee has exposed what he sees as a dissident faction within the CIA that he says “intentionally undermined” the policies of President George W Bush. This group’s existence has been rumored for a number of years in the DC area. Could this be the “Fifth Column” that was reportedly responsible for the resignation of a few congressmen a number of years ago?

“In fact, I have been long concerned that a strong and well-positioned group within the agency intentionally undermined the administration and its policies,” Mr Hoekstra wrote in a letter to George Bush dated May 18, and made public July 10.

Has the “Fifth Column” struck again with the July 9 murder of Alan Sennitt in Washington, D.C.? According to Sorcha Faal the Russian Federal Security Service has pegged Sennitt as a top Israeli spy.

Combined Jewish Philanthropies reports that the Jewish world has been robbed of a young leader: “Leaving the Union of Jewish Students post in 2003, he urged Jewish students to speak as ‘one community, one voice, one people’, and signed his open letter, ‘Proud to be a Zionist, proud to be a Jew’.”

Just as a host attempts to rid itself of a parasite, it appears our American military is doing its part to rid our nation of the Zionist disease. As evidenced by reporting by Sorcha Faal. However, our Congress is a different matter as it has voted overwhelmingly on July 20th, 2006 to support Israel in its confrontation with Hezbollah guerrillas.

“Russian Military Analysts, and FSB sources, are reporting today that United States Military Special Forces have seized control of the nation of Israel’s nuclear complex located at Dimona with a contingent of their Special Forces Troops from the American war zone currently located in Iraq.

These reports detail that this action by the American Military Leadership was in direct response to China’s President Hu’s ‘threat to the American President that should the Strait of Hormoz be blockaded by Iran, due to the escalating crisis between Israel and its Muslim neighbors, China would consider that action as a ‘declaration of war’ against and the Chinese people.

The America response to this ‘threat’ from China, coming from China’s President Hu in his ‘face-to-face’ meeting with the United States President Bush at the G-8 Summit, was to assure both China’s President Hu, and Russia’s President Putin, that the American Military Leadership would ‘secure’ Israel’s nuclear weapons and limit their, Israel’s, incursion into Lebanon.

In return for the American Military Leadership’s securing Israel’s nuclear weapons both President Putin and President Hu have allowed a ‘72-hour-window’ for Israel to secure its Northern Border with Lebanon, with the ‘understanding’ that Israel will not attack either Syria or Iran, and whom Israel has blamed for being the instigators behind this current war.

These reports further detail that the American President has dispatched his Secretary of State to report to Israel’s Prime Minister Olmert the full details of this agreement, but which these reports state that the government of Israel is in ‘violent’ opposition to...

THREE STOOGES WITH AN AGENDA MEANS BORDERLESS NORTH AMERICA

Bush, Martin, and Fox. Moe, Larry, and Curly. What do the president of the United States, a former Prime Minister of Canada, and the president of Mexico have in common with three bungling idiots? At the end of this writing our only conclusion may be that these sets of trios create comedies of errors that are unsurpassed. While laughing at the Three Stooges is quite harmless with no known side effects, being a chuckle bunny with the leaders of North America will have some yet to be revealed long-term and disastrous consequences.

So what is it that is just really not that funny? How about the loss of our national sovereignty and our civilization as we know it for starters. On March 23, 2005, in Waco, Texas of all places, Bush, Martin, and Fox announced “The Security and Prosperity Partnership of North America”, thereby committing their respective governments to a path of cooperation and joint action. While the sound of this may seem very benign to some and may give people a warm fuzzy feeling, we will discover that as we peel back the layers of the politically correct doublespeak, there is a core that is quite rotten.

Lou Dobbs of CNN fame, who appears to be a “mainstream” media mouth who has smelled the core, gives a surprisingly blistering account in June 2006 of this treason being committed behind our backs:

A regional prosperity and security program? This is absolute ignorance. And the fact that we are—we reported this, we should point out, when it was signed. But, as we watch this thing progress, these working groups are continuing. They’re intensifying. What in the world are these people thinking about? . . . You know, I was asked the other day about whether or not I really thought the American people had the stomach to stand up and stop this nonsense, this direction from a group of elites, an absolute contravention of our law, of our Constitution, every national value. And I hope, I pray that I’m right when I said yes. But this is—I mean, this is beyond belief. [End quoting] The SPP, for short, being officially launched by a Council on Foreign Relations report entitled Building A North America Community, looks to be the grown up brother of NAFTA and is on a fast-track to create a North American community by year 2010. The New World Order’s Global Plan 2000 is clearly off schedule and with the advent of the full influence of the Photon Belt their schedule is now at a frenetic pace.

Why all the secrecy if this is truly good for America? Let’s take a look at some of the CFR recommendations:

- Lay the groundwork for the freer flow of people within North America. The three governments should commit themselves to the long-term goal of dramatically diminishing the need for the current intensity of the government’s physical control of cross-border traffic, travel, and trade. (Is it clear now why our porous southern border is by design and shall remain so?)

- Establish a common security perimeter. (Notice it says perimeter—more evidence of the desire for our borders to vanish.)

- Develop a North American border pass. (A.k.a. smartcard. With these cards your physical whereabouts will be tracked as well as all personal, financial and medical information.)

- Expand NORAD into a multi-service defense command. (Foreign interests inside NORAD—brilliant! To meet this goal Representative Katherine Harris of Florida, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and a Bush lackey, has introduced a bill, HR 2672, into the U.S. Congress called the North American Cooperative Security Act. This bill would begin the process of blending Mexican and Canadian defense departments with those of the U.S., expanding “consultations on defense issues”, and “exploring the formation of law enforcement teams that include personnel from the U.S. and Mexico”.)

- Implement the Social Security Totalization Agreement negotiated between the U.S. and Mexico. (This agreement was signed in June 2004 and according to Congressman John Culberson of Texas this agreement will put every illegal alien from Mexico and their entire extended family anywhere in the world on our overburdened Social Security system. It appears that the already taxed-to-the-max American taxpayer will be responsible for raising the standard of living of all non-U.S. citizens.)

- Strengthen government structures . . . each government must take steps to reinforce the ability of its internal structures to deal effectively and imaginatively with North American issues. (In other words what to do with the sheep that don’t fall into line.)

- Develop close and cooperative working relationships between governments and industries. (Webster’s defines fascism as a system of government that merges state and business leadership, together with a belligerent nationalism. If we are not already there then how do you explain that in the U.S. House of Representatives there are two huge symbols of fascism displayed on the wall to the left and right of the Speaker’s chair?)

Just as a magician practices the art of deception so the political tricksters relentlessly move their agenda forward while all eyes are elsewhere.

To receive the full thrust of the CFR’s recommendations I invite you to view it at: cfr.org/content/publications/attachments/NorthAmerica_TF_final.pdf.

U.S. INTELLIGENCE TIES TO MUMBAIBy Larry Chin, Online Journal, 7/13/06

The CIA gets their hands dirty through more destabilizing efforts.

[QUOTING:]

On July 11, eight bombs exploded aboard commuter trains in Mumbai, killing 190 people. No group has come forward claiming responsibility. But according to mainstream coverage, such as the yesterday's report in the San Francisco Chronicle by Anna Badkhen, the prime suspects are "militant Islamic groups with ties to Pakistan".

What the mainstream press fails to report is the direct connection between the terrorist groups they name, and Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI)—a virtual branch of the American CIA. [JS: Is this another false flag operation designed to keep Islam on top of the boogeyman list?]

This in turn leads back to the same (alleged "al-Qaeda") apparatus also responsible for the Bush administration's 9/11 and other post-9/11 terror events.

Saeed Omar Shiekh and the ISI

The San Francisco Chronicle report, perhaps unwittingly, provides a damning trail directly back to possible covert Anglo-American involvement.

It quotes the Times of India, which cites Indian intelligence sources saying that two radical Muslim groups are behind the attacks, "one of them based in Pakistan, which has fought two wars with India over Kashmir. That group, the newspaper reported is the Pakistan-based militant group Lashkar-e-Toiba, or Army of the Pure . . . The other group . . . is the Students Islamic Movement of India, which has been in a loose alliance with Lashkar-e-Toiba".

The Chronicle report also offers this: "In Washington, a U.S. official who spoke to the Associated Press on condition of anonymity pointed to another group, Jaish-e-Mohammed, or Army of Mohammed, which is also affiliated with al-Qaeda, according to the Bush administration." [JS: Mr. Bush is not yet finished with the CIA-created al-Qaeda that has been used to further the New World Order agenda.]

Targeting trains at rush hour traffic is a tactic Jaish-e-Mohammed favors, the official said.

"The U.S. government has designated Jaish-e-Mohammed a terrorist organization. One of its members, Shiekh Omar Sayed, has been sentenced to death for the murder of US journalist Daniel Pearl in 2002."

Michel Chossudovsky has exposed this network, including the two groups named. Through the ISI, a branch of the CIA, U.S.—allied Pakistan has promoted secessionist movements in India for decades. The ISI has been instrumental in the creation and ongoing guidance of the militant Islamic groups, including 'al-Qaeda' terror cells.

From Chossudovsky's groundbreaking book, America's "War on Terrorism" [LC: my emphasis:]:

"The December 2001 terrorist attacks on the Indian parliament—which contributed to pushing India and Pakistan to the brink of war—were conducted by two Pakistan-based rebel groups, Lashkar-e-Taiba (Army of the Pure) and Jaish-e-Muhammad (Army of Mohammed), both of which are covertly supported by Pakistan's ISI. The timely attack on the Indian parliament, followed by the ethnic riots in Gujarat in early 2002, were the culmination of a process initiated in the 1980s, financed by drug money and abetted by Pakistan's military intelligence."

"Needless to say, these ISI-supported terrorist attacks serve the geopolitical interests of the U.S. They not only contribute to weakening and fracturing the Indian Union, they also create conditions which favor the outbreak of a regional war between Pakistan and India."

Attributing the incident to a Saeed Omar Shiekh-affiliated group also brings us full circle to the original 9/11 "al-Qaeda" network, which, in turn has been exposed as a U.S. military intelligence apparatus.

Here is Michael C. Ruppert, from his book Crossing the Rubicon, on Omar Saeed Shiekh [LC: my emphasis in italics]:

"He is variously known also by the names of Ahmad Umar Shiek, Ahmad Omar Saeed Shiekh, and Umar Shiekh. He was raised and educated in London, and by whatever name he is known, it has been acknowledged that he was an ISI agent. When the Times of India revealed that by examining his cell phone records (obtained through Indian intelligence services) they could prove that he was the leg man who had wired $100,000 to Mohammed Atta in Florida just days before the [9/11] attacks, they did not know that he was going to be arrested and convicted for the murder of [Daniel] Pearl. It was the cell phone records, among other things, that tied Shiekh directly to the ISI. And before this link to the ISI Chief General Mahmoud Ahmad became known and corroborated by major U.S. papers, the American press had been setting him up as the number one al-Qaeda bag man."

"The ISI connection changed all that and became a liability for the U.S. government."

Finally, as Ruppert noted, "with so much damning evidence stacking up to suggest that the CIA had actually helped to finance the 9/11 attacks, there was nothing left for the mainstream press to do but engage in a game of confusion."

This game of confusion was analyzed by Chaim Kupferberg's in "9/11 and the Smoking Gun that Turned on its Tracker" (Part One and Part Two), another analysis that leaves no doubt about U.S./Bush administration involvement behind 9/11, and CIA connections to "al-Qaeda".

Bottom line: if the Mumbai attacks can be attributed to the ISI, a branch of the CIA, and the same "al-Qaeda" terror groups tied to U.S. military intelligence groups working (either knowingly or guided) by the Bush administration's intelligence agencies, what purpose did it serve U.S. interests?

How does the US benefit from a destabilization of India?

A breakout of war between Pakistan and India favors U.S. geostrategy in a number of ways. The possibilities will undoubtedly be analyzed, in coming weeks and months.

Broadly, the collapse of the Indio-Pak peace process opens the political doors for new U.S. military interventions on the Eurasian subcontinent, and a restrengthening of the U.S. presence on the Eurasian corridor, (which has, in recent months, been weakened by perceived failure of the Bush administration's Iraq operation). [JS: If India and Pakistan are embroiled in a conflict and the U.S. moves on Iran will Pakistan still be able to provide assistance against the American aggression?]

The other geopolitical "games" that benefit from violence in India include the setup towards any military action in Iran, revived operations in Iraq and Afghanistan, and the continuing superpower chess games with China and Russia. The overriding long-term imperative for all nations, of course, is energy.

As Ruppert notes in Crossing the Rubicon:

"If energy demand in China, India and Indonesia is allowed to grow as much as analysts say it will, then these three countries may well crowd the rest of the world out of the energy market . . . It is plain that growing energy demands will bring China, India and Indonesia into conflict with the developed world. The United States in particular, as the top world consumer of oil, will likely either have to curb consumption to make room for other countries or will have to find some way to curb demands of the emerging energy consumers. Moreover, competition for diminishing oil resources could threaten the U.S. dollar hegemony over world oil transactions."

According to Ruppert, the U.S. attitude on India and energy is mixed. "Being so energy-poor, India may have no choice but to take what they can get", from Pakistan (which, prior to recent violence, was on course to provide India with access to a proposed Central Asian gas pipeline). At the same time, "it is foreseeable that India . . . may be left to starve, with much of the third world. Or it is possible that a nuclear exchange and/or a bloody war could be spurred on between India and Pakistan strictly for the purpose of population reduction. Such designs are despicable, but not out of the range of possibilities for starving nations."

Finally, there is also the perennial propaganda imperative on the part of the Bush administration, and its many "allies in the war on terrorism". All perceived dips in mass public perception of the "war on terrorism" have triggered real as well as manufactured-for-media terror events. The Indian government, not surprisingly, is "vowing to battle terrorism", and issuing statements that repeat time-honored anti-terrorist rhetoric. And another shell-shocked populace is "reeling".

A final sickening reality is that Anglo-American-Israeli "war on terror" aggression has (by design as well as unintentionally) fomented and unleashed real terrorism and "blowback" that can no longer be controlled.

In the end, as was the case with 9/11, London 7/7, Bali, and every other post-9/11 "terror" calamity, we are left with another horrific tragedy. But we have also been handed a damning new evidence trail that leads to suspects in high places with means, motive, opportunity—and geostrategy.

IMF EXEC COMMENDS GOV'T ON PACE OF ECONOMIC REFORMSBy Edu H. Lopez, Manilla Bulletin, 7/16/06

A top official of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) has been impressed by the significant progress on the economic reforms implemented by the Arroyo administration following his recent visit to Manila. [JS: There's nothing like a public-relations gimmick from a perceived notable to polish a tarnished image.]

In a statement, Takatoshi Kato, IMF deputy managing director said: "The authorities are to be commended for accelerating the pace of fiscal adjustment, including through the landmark VAT reform, and setting the country's public debt-to-GDP on a downward trend."

"Our discussions have also given me a deeper understanding of the Philippines' economic prospects," said Kato. [JS: You can be sure that a topic of discussion was the Global Alliance Investment Association's program for nations and its ever-increasing popularity.]

Kato also discussed the challenges going forward and he fully supported the priority the authorities attach to continue their reforms and further enhance the investment climate.

"These efforts should help to set the country on a higher sustainable growth path," said Kato.

He was delighted to have had the chance to visit the Philippines. "I want to thank the authorities for their very gracious hospitality," he said.

Kato met with Finance Secretary Margarito Teves and Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) Governor Amando Tetangco, Jr. and other senior officials.

He also met with members of the business and academic community. "I had a fruitful exchange of views with the authorities on a range of issues, including how to reshape the IMF so it can better help countries meet the opportunities and challenges posed by globalization."

Kato reviewed with the authorities how the IMF proposes to implement its medium-term strategy and discussed how to best address critical issues such as enhancing governance of the institution by providing Asian countries with a greater voice in the IMF.

"The authorities' advice will help the IMF in advancing the implementation of its medium-term Strategy, and will also aid in the preparations for the forthcoming IMF Annual Meetings in Singapore this September," Kato added.

By Sananda & Judas Iscarioth

The story of the life of the one known as Jesus of Nazareth (Immanuel) is told by Jesus (now Sananda, meaning "one with God") and his disciple and scribe, Judas Iscarioth. Judas Iscarioth's name is cleared and the actual one who betrayed Immanuel is revealed. Absolute clarification is given about the numerous falsifications and misconceptions concerning Immanuel's teachings and his life, such as: The purpose of His Life, His 40 days with Cosmic Beings, His Crucifixion and Resurrection and His journey after his resurrection. Many actual teachings are presented including clarification of God and The Creation, basis of the Laws and Commandments, purpose of John the Baptist, and purpose of His parables.

NEVADA CORPORATIONS:WHETHER SETTING UP OR MAINTAINING YOUR NEVADA CORPORATION:

Do It Right And Do It For LESS

Budget's "Tip of the Week" #1:NRS 78.105—Maintenance of Records at the Registered Office

According to NRS 78.105 (restated, emphasis added): A corporation has a responsibility to maintain certain corporate records at its registered office for inspection by stockholders, including a State-certified copy of its Articles of Incorporation, a copy of the Bylaws and the stock ledger (or a statement naming the ledger's custodian, including the address at which the ledger is kept).

It is hard to see why such records should be maintained in any case where no stock has been issued, as the expressed intent of NRS 78.105 appears to be to ensure that stockholders should have access to these corporate records. Of course, a court order may compel production of the corporate records and in that event, failure to produce them within a "reasonable" time could result in State penalties of $25 per day for each day of refusal. In such an instance you would have up to five days to produce the records, which, of course, would be in perfect order.

If you choose to leave such records on file at the registered office of the corporation, you might want to take an extra measure of caution regarding privacy of those records and insist upon a non-disclosure agreement with the resident agent. Such an agreement should prevent the resident agent from casually identifying you with the corporation and from sharing the corporation's filed records with anyone other than the corporation's stockholders. (Otherwise, those records are potentially accessible by anyone making an inquiry.) And hopefully such an agreement would give the resident agent pause to consider additional security against those who might "snoop around".

Here is one more thing you can do to protect your privacy: Contact your resident agent and ensure that there are NO documents on file that connect YOUR NAME to the corporation. Have the resident agent expunge and shred any old memos, order forms and any other such information that could adversely impact your desire for privacy.

The next "Tip of the Week" will discuss Nevada's statutory sanctions against anyone who would even attempt to access the corporation's records for purposes contrary to those of its stockholders.

The next time you find yourselves in fear, beloved of mine, ask God to enter and clear the area. Ask for help and it shall be given. Ask for courage and it shall be given. Ask for Light and it shall be given. All things will be opened unto thee in proper sequence if you but ask. You of God's people are loved beyond measure. So be it and Selah.
